Relocation of Dam Opposed by Soil Districts

Members of the Gallatin, White and Saline Counties Soil Conservation Districts in a meeting December 20th-1957 at Ridgway, Illinois, unanimously passed the following resolution:

"Whereas, The Soil Conservation Districts are an advocate of Better Land and Water Use and the treatment of every acre according to its needs likewise use of each acre according to its capabilities,

"Whereas, The Gallatin, The Saline and White County Soil Conservation Districts were organized by farmers for farmers of their respective counties and the future welfare of our State and Nation.

"Whereas, The Districts approve of Soil Conservation Districts or large groups working together for the benefit of all without bringing hardships or damage to others.

"Whereas, The Gallatin County, The Saline County and The White County Soil Conservation Districts do not oppose drainage or improved navigation in the Wabash River near its mouth.

"Whereas, hundreds of farmers of Southeastern Illinois are already confronted with Flood and Drainage problems on many thousand acres of land.

"Be it therefore resolved that The Gallatin County, The Saline County and White County Soil Conservation Districts of Southeastern Illinois strongly oppose the proposition of changing the location of a new and higher Dam No. 49 in the Ohio River from the head of Wabash Island to the mouth of the Wabash River."

Babson's Business and Financial Forecast for 1958

(By Roger W. Babson)

Next to the Russian situation, President Eisenhower's condition will be of supreme importance. What its influence upon Russia will be, nobody knows. It probably will not affect general business. I believe that for some time our president has not been making important policies and, much to his disappointment, his recommendations have been largely ignored. The major effect of the president's condition will be political. Those close to the president, for both friendship and political reasons, are hoping for his recovery both in health and in memory. Others in charge of the Republican party, anxious about his possible incapacitation or death, would like to see him resign and drop out of the picture in order to give vice-president Nixon a good buildup in the hope of re-electing the Republican party again in 1960.

For evident reasons, the Democrats are hoping that vice-president Nixon will not have an opportunity to function as president before the coming election. Therefore, President Eisenhower's condition could greatly influence the political situation during the next few years. This would cause uncertainty and retard large corporate expansion programs as well as consumer buying.

I cannot believe that Russia wants World War III; in fact, I am confident that Russia will go to some lengths to avoid World War III. In case of any retaliation by us, Russia would suffer great losses. Moreover, if Russia has any hope of conquering our country, she certainly wishes to preserve our cities, industries and other valuable assets. Russia has land enough now; it is our industries which Russia wants. This also applies to England and Western Europe as well as the United States. Therefore my forecasts for 1958 are as follows:

1. The present cold war will be intensified during 1958. This will increase fear of war, which could greatly affect retail sales.

2. Russian policy will be aimed at securing control of the United States, the countries of Western Europe, and the Middle East by infiltration.

3. The cold war costs the United States billions of dollars annually. This can be paid for only through increased taxes or inflation, or by the adoption of the Hoover Commission's recommendations for radical economy.

4. Profits will be further squeezed during 1958, as a result of higher costs and pressure for lower prices.

5. Competition at all levels will increase during 1958.

6. Only more advertising by both manufacturers and retailers will enable them to keep up their present gross volume during 1958.

7. Failures will increase in 1958. These will apply mostly to small concerns, but some of the big companies in the Dow Jones Averages may collapse.

8. Predicting a lower total volume of business for 1958, compared with 1957, I forecast an averagely lower trend, on average for wholesale commodity prices. Expect a gradual decrease in the cost-of-living during 1958.

9. Wise labor leaders will hesitate to fight for higher wages, but will try for shorter hours, pen-

Salvation Army Tree of Lights Collects $1,099

Fund Used for Christmas Baskets, Other Welfare Work

The Harrisburg Salvation Army collected $1,099.57 during its Tree of Lights fund campaign in uptown Harrisburg prior to Christmas.

The money was needed for the Salvation Army to distribute Christmas baskets and for other welfare work, as the annual drive fell far short on funds.

But the Tree of Lights campaign did not fall short. The goal was $1,000.

The way it worked was like this: For every $5 contributed to the uptown kettle, a bulb was lighted on the Christmas tree on the southwest corner of the court yard. Different local organizations took turn at working the kettle, along with regular Salvation Army workers.

Lt. Mildred Wallace said that of the total, $496.93 was collected by the organizations, $605.64 by regular workers and by mailed donations.

She listed the amounts collected by groups as follows: Kiwanis $241.37; Business and Professional Women's club $35.76; Rotary $54.18; Woman's club $27.30; Toastmaster's club $25.50; Lions $44.43; Theta Rho chapter of Rebekahs $22.04; American Legion post $19; Pythian Sisters $24.35.

The Kiwanis club will be presented a plaque of recognition for raising the largest amount.

Lt. Wallace said the Army gave 85 Christmas baskets for 368 individuals, the baskets consisting of food and approximately 600 toys. The Army wished to thank the following:

Kresge employees and Pride of Arrow Rebekah lodge members, who exchanged gifts of toys this year and gave them to the Salvation Army.

Velmot McDaniel of Mac's, who through his free shop donated approximately 500 cans of food used in the baskets and also gave a number of toys.

Hart's department store for donation of toys.

The Harrisburg fire department members who repaired and repainted used toys that were donated.

P. J. Frankenstein of Carp's and Charles Shingler of Kresge's, for the co-operation given in establishing the Salvation Army hut in front of their businesses.

Businesses, Offices To Observe New Year's Holiday Tomorrow

New Year's Day will be observed in Harrisburg tomorrow as a holiday with most businesses and offices closed. There will be no issue of The Daily Register and the post office will have curtailed mail service.

Run by Fire Department

The fire department made a run at 11:40 p. m. last night to the home of Mrs. Sarilda Walden, 314 East Raymond avenue. Fire Chief L. G. Martin said smoke filling the room from a heating stove was the cause of the alarm and that there was no damage.

New Year Will Ring In with the Usual Large Crowds and High Price Tabs

By United Press
Auld Lang Syne will ring out boisterously around the land this New Year's Eve, with celebrants paying about the same price as last year to wake up with the same sized hangover.

A United Press survey indicates the cost of ringing in the new year on the town tonight will be little changed — expensive — and the free-spending crowds also will be about the same — large.

Prices range from $37.50 per at high class bistros in New York and Los Angeles with top name entertainers to the regular prices at the neighborhood bar featuring color television.

Mingling with the din of merry-making will be the peal of church bells calling the devout to church services, many of them all-night watch services.

Another somber note was injected by the National Safety Council, which warned as many as 130 persons will be killed in grinding traffic wrecks, with drunken drivers contributing heavily to the toll.

Weathermen warned of possible heavy snow, rain and sleet in much of the Midwest today.

Hazardous driving conditions could send the traffic fatality count skyrocketing.

For those willing to take the risks of holiday traffic and temporary bankruptcy, here's a spot check of what the situation will be in various parts of the country:

New York City—It will be standing room only on famed Times Square with extra policemen on hand to control the crowd and firemen watching fireboxes to prevent false alarms. New Yorkers will shell out $37.50 per to hear Pearl Bailey at the Empire Room of the Waldorf Astoria. Prices in other night spots will range from $15 to $75.00 per person.

Reservations Up in Hollywood
Los Angeles—Plush nightclubs in Hollywood and vicinity report reservations up somewhat, with about 900 persons expected to jam the Ambassador Hotel's Coconut Grove at $37.50 per person. Elsewhere the tab runs from $17.50 to $25 per.

Chicago—The Chez Paree will have the town's top tariff, $24.60, including a steak dinner and entertainment by Sam Levenson and the Four Lads. The Empire Room of the Palmer House will feature Jaye P. Morgan and a filet mignon check of $19.75.

Milwaukee—The world capital of baseball has a top of $30 per couple, but the average price at nightclubs is $5 per person minimum.

Elsewhere, the tariff runs from $7.50 to $10 at Dallas; $7.50 per at Atlanta, Ga., plus $2.50 for dancing; $10 cover tops at Detroit; $5 to $10 at Washington, $10 minimum in Boston plus tax, and $10 in Minneapolis.

Burglars Enter Two More Places

Two more burglaries in Harrisburg were reported this morning to city and county officers.

Brownie's Store on Elm street was burglarized for the second time this month, with thieves getting some knives and possibly boots, jackets and other items.

The John Schwartz shoe repair shop on South Granger street was entered by burglars who pilfered the place but did not get anything. They apparently were looking for money.

Kiwanis Installs New Officers

New officers were installed at a meeting of the Harrisburg Kiwanis club held last night at the Masonic temple.

Loy Barger, a former lieutenant governor of Division 16 of the Illinois-Eastern Iowa district, was in charge of installing the new officers and outlining their duties.

Installed were: President, Robert Rushing; vice president, the Rev. Glen Daugherty; secretary, Lee House; treasurer, J. C. Beggs. The new board of directors will be composed of Richard Davenport, immediate past president; Joe Hollingsworth, Dwan Frick, Fred Bramlet, Gene Neihaus, Fred Wunderlich and Eugene Morris.

The new president outlined his plans for the coming year and a review was made of the work of former presidents of the club.

Guests were: Jim Williams, guest of his father-in-law, Vern Clayton, Lee Morse, and Dr. S. H. Frazier Jr., guest of his father-in-law, Loy Barger.

President Eisenhower Has No Intention of Resigning Office

By MERRIMAN SMITH

United Press White House Writer
GETTYSBURG, Pa. (U.P.)—President Eisenhower has no intention of resigning.

He doesn't even think in such terms these days.

He sees no reason why he should resign.

As far as his physical condition is concerned he feels more than adequate for the job. His doctors concur in this confidence today.

Eisenhower does not regard himself as a "part-time president" any more than the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt regarded himself as part-time because of his frequent weekends in Hyde Park, N. Y., or former President Truman and his fondness for week ends on the White House yacht or long holidays in Key West, Fla.

Such is the basic philosophy of the present Chief Executive as he is pelted largely by Democrats and to a lesser degree by members of his own party, for not stepping out of office because of recurrent illnesses and frequent absences from his White House desk.

The United Press is able to report the President's attitude after long talks with some of his closer friends and administration associates who are in frequent if not daily contact with him.

The President's feelings could change with a heart flutter, but today he does not brood or think of himself as a sick man. On the contrary he is restive when work or bad weather in chill Gettysburg prevent him from getting out in the open and riding or striding around his farm.

The latest talk of resignation

started with a Sunday night statement by Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N. Y.) of the House Judiciary Committee. Celler suggested that the President resign temporarily if he continues to be what the congressman called "president in name only."

The President regards this as so much politics and is not particularly nettled by such statements. There have been many similar suggestions since the President suffered a mild stroke last Nov. 25.

Pass Petitions For Representative Committeeman

Petitions were in circulation today for W. K. (Tim) Turner, seeking election to the post of Republican Representative committeeman for Saline county in the 59th Representative district. Ezra Heatherly has circulated petitions for election as Democratic Representative committeeman in the April primary. Both are incumbents.

The law provides that the two party Representative committees have until Jan. 28 to meet and by resolution fix and determine the number of candidates to be nominated for representatives in the General Assembly. Jan. 30 is the last day for the committees to file resolutions determining the number in the office of the secretary of state and the county clerk.

Castle Asks Recovery of Hodge Spending

Suit Charges Money Paid in Violation of Conflict of Interest

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—Atty. Gen. Latham Castle today filed suit against Edward A. Epping and East St. Louis accountant Fred M. Mersinger for recovery of $467,201 paid to them and their accounting firm by convicted former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

The suit charged the money was paid in violation of the state conflict of interest law since Epping was an employee of the state and also a partner in the accounting firm which did work for Hodge.

The suit was filed in Sangamon County Circuit Court on behalf of present State Auditor Elbert S. Smith.

The law prohibits state officials and employees from holding contracts with the state.

Epping actually was never on the state payroll as an employee, but the Mersinger firm was paid $1,000 a month for his services by Hodge.

The suit charged that this, in effect, made Epping a state employee.

Special Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert B. Oxtoby said "Hodge went around saying 'Epping is in charge' and introduced him as his office manager. We feel that, in effect, that made Epping an employee."

Ousted as Partner

The suit asked recovery of the $467,201 paid to the Mersinger firm, plus 5 per cent interest.

It said the money should be returned to the state under the provision of the law which requires forfeiture of a contract where a conflict of interest is involved.

The suit named Epping and Mersinger as defendants individually and as partners in the F. M. Mersinger & Co., accounting firm.

Anno Domini 1958

Editorial — By PHIL PASTORET

The monumental headaches to which many celebrants will awake
on New Year's Day are as nothing to the various migraines mankind will be subject to in the year ahead.

The New Year's Eve—or hoopla-
type headache—yields to one of many remedies washed down with great quantities of black coffee.

Would that the greater headaches of personal, national and international life could be mitigated
by such simple remedies.

In the frantic fumbings in our mental drugstore for an effective cure, we have left untouched the one thing which can relieve our ages-old headaches.

And that is the meaning of the year—this year or any year.

The years past have been un-stopped — their essences have evaporated. But this year now ready to our hands has yet to add its elixirs to the swirling ferment of history.

Its label reads: "Anno Domini 1958"—The Year of Our Lord 1958.

It is the one thousand, nine hundred and fifty-eighth chance which the Almighty has given mankind to straighten out its affairs, as we reckon time in the Christian world.

We must just try to live in the Christian spirit during this new,
unsullied Year of Our Lord. It might help us to solve our man-ifold problems. It couldn't do any harm.

We've tried every other remedy
on the shelf.

will be consolidated under the 11th
U. S. Army Corps (reserve) on Jan. 1, 1958, Col. David B. Stone, chief of the Missouri district, announced today.

Headquarters will be in St. Louis
under the command of Maj. Gen.
Charles D. W. Canham, who will assume his duties in late February. The new corps will maintain an office at Chicago to be known

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
American Bombers Wait In Morocco On 24-Hour Alert;
They Carry Hydrogen Bombs With Deadlier Power Than All Explosives Fired In World War II; Bombers Commute Between Morocco And Louisiana.

SIDI SLIMANE, Morocco.—On the runway at this air base are two dozen sleek, speedy, wind-swept B-47s, each loaded with a hydrogen bomb. They are poised and ready to take off. Destination: Moscow. Flying at a speed of 600 miles an hour, Moscow is just four hours away.

I climbed up in the cockpit of the lead B-47. Only a few feet away was the hydrogen bomb, containing more explosive power than all the bombs, artillery shells, and other fire-power detonated in all of World War II!

Every minute of the day one or more of these bombs is in the air—ready for eventualities. Every minute of the day and night these B-47s are lined up on the runways of Morocco ready to strike.

One month ago I wouldn't have been able to write about this. One month ago, the entire operation at Sidi Slimane was top secret. But in November, Gen. Tom Power, chief of the Strategic Air Command, announced in Paris that since October 1, the Air Force had giant bombers, loaded with hydrogen bombs, on a 24-hour alert, ready in 15 minutes to take off toward enemy targets in case of war.

He was referring to Sidi Slimane. Sidi Slimane is an 8,000-acre oasis between Rabat and the foothills of the Atlas mountains, where B-47 bombing crews go about their business as if nothing was happening, but with one ear always listening for the klaxon alarm which would send them speeding toward "the target."

There are 38 klaxons on the base. There are three men in each B-47 crew. Each crew has a jeep. They must stick together with that jeep ready to rush to their plane. If one man goes to the barbershop, the other two must go with him, while the jeep stands by. If one goes to call on his girl friend, the other two must go with him. They must be ready night and day for the sound of one of those klaxons.

Once every 16 days, the crew flies its 9-47 back to Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La. It's a long hop to Barksdale—about one-third of the way around the world—but these planes commute. They make the hop in eight to ten hours, fueling in the air en route, because the Air Force has found it practical to do maintenance work at the home base in the United States rather than at an advanced base in Morocco; also because long hops across the Atlantic give the pilot practice in the kind of flying he has to do in time of war.

An armed Air Police stands beside each B-47 on the runway at Sidi Slimane, and even the base commander, Col. John Kunkel of Indianapolis, had to show his identification before the guard would let him and me crawl up into the cramped cockpit of the giant bomber.

Bombers of the past were built so the crew could sleep or walk around inside. They were a dozen members in the crew. But in this messenger of destruction there are only three. They can't walk. They can crawl a few feet, put one leg down from the pilot's seat. But they can't even get down from their seats to go to the bathroom. Besides, there isn't any bathroom. They are strapped in until they get to Moscow, Shreveport, or their destination.

The rest of the plane is one solid series of gasoline tanks—plus the hydrogen bomb.

ONE-THIRD OF BOMBERS
When General Power revealed that one-third of SAC's 2,000 bombers were on a 24-hour alert loaded with H-bombs, it was not a flub. His revelation was intentional—first, because the Russians by then knew all about Sidi Slimane; second, because he wanted to reassure our allies, following the panic news that Russia had the ICBM (intercontinental missile) and several thousand intermediate range missiles. Unlike our big Wheelus Air Base at Tripoli, Sidi Slimane is 2,000 miles from the iron curtain and out of range of the Russian intermediate 800-mile missile. So are our other bases in Morocco and Spain. They will not be out of range of the 5,000-mile ICBM when Russia perfects it, and they are not out of range today of underwater missiles launched from Russian submarines.

DULLES'S WEAKNESS

In Washington, D. C., John Foster Dulles talks about negotiating from strength. He doesn't want to hold any discussions with Russia until the U. S. A. can hoist a Sputnik in the air or establish missile bases in West Europe when he can then talk from a position of strength.

Most people have forgotten it, but the bases in Sidi Slimane and the rest of North Africa were established during the Korean war when President Truman feared that his "police action" might develop into a world war. These bases gave us the ability at that time to negotiate from strength. Perhaps they prevented World War III.

Later President Eisenhower accepted a peace in Korea. It was hailed in the U. S. as a great victory, but actually it was a humiliating compromise. It permitted Communist troops to transfer from Korea to Indo-China, following which most of that area was lost to the free world.

Meanwhile, top scientists were purged from government. Appropriations were cut. Scientific experimentation was derided by Charlie Wilson—while Russia forged ahead.

So today John Foster Dulles finds himself negotiating from weakness. His chief remaining strength is from these sleek, windswept B-47s lined up on the runways of Sidi Slimane and from other bombers poised or in the air night and day, ready to retaliate.

The great danger is, however, that something might go wrong on one of these bombers. Somebody might give the wrong signal. Mechanism might go out of whack. The pilot might have to bail out. The bomb-bay door might come loose. In this case, as much explosive hydrogen as was unleashed in all of World War II would come hurtling to earth. On such human and mechanical frailties rests the peace of this weary world as "the year 1957 comes to a close."

$120,543 Savings Bonds Sold in Saline County During November

Saline county residents purchased a total of $120,543, in Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in November, according to a report received from the Savings Bonds Division of the United States Treasury Department by Volunteer Savings Bonds County Chairman Harley H. Shepherd of Harrisburg.

Purchases of E and H Bonds in the state of Illinois, according to T. Merle Paul, State Director of the United States Savings Bonds Division for Illinois, in November this year were $29,119,711 or 7.1 per cent less than November last year.

In November, Illinois sales represented 8.7 per cent to total sales in the nation which were $334,000,000. In the first eleven months, sales in the state have reached 85.8 per cent of Illinois' annual quota for 1957 which is $444,000,000.

Wage Contract Halts Threat of N.Y. Transit Strike

NEW YORK — Michael J. Quill's Transport Workers Union ended today its threat of a New Year's Eve subway and bus strike by accepting a 32 1/2-cent-an-hour contract package designed to head off transit-labor trouble for at least two years.

The agreement will cost the city an estimated $29,250,000.

A spokesman for the citizen's committee said the two-year contract provides a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase the first year and an additional 10 cents the second year. Part of the remaining 7 1/2 cents will go into a $2,500,000 fund for the correction of "inequities." The contract, covering 31,000 TWU members employed by city operated subways and bus lines, will go into effect tomorrow.

Bynums Make Trip to Limoges, Home Of Fine Haviland China in France

Editor's Note: James H. Bynum, native of Stonefort and former HTHS teacher, is teaching English and journalism in the army dependent high school at Rochefort, France, and will write his impressions of the area from time to time.

There are supposed to be three tests for fine china. When held to the light good china may be seen through; when struck lightly it has a bell-like ring; and, if it's really good china, one may stand upon it.

We recently made a trip to Limoges, the home of Haviland porcelain. Haviland recognizes no superior china, and probably few are as expensive. In looks the Haviland china is much more attractive than Wedgwood sets of comparable price—due, no doubt, to the famed excellence of French enamels. A ten piece tea service, without taxes or duties, was $30. A one piece porcelain pheasant-hunting scene was 62 mille (about $150).

At that price who would dare to test it by standing on it?

West of Limoges is the tragic village of Oradour. In 1944 the beleaguered Nazis, angered by maquis activity, put a torch to the village and savagely massacred the whole population. The ruins of the martyred village have been declared a historical monument, and stand—charred, empty, and silent—a mute but eloquent witness of cruelty. We took no pictures here,

Alpha Circle Has December Meeting and Surprise Shower

The Alpha circle of the First Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. William Burroughs for its December meeting. The Bible Study, "With What Hope?" was given by Mrs. Ruth Brockett. Mrs. William Burroughs presented the missionary education lesson, and Mrs. Joseph Hollingsworth gave the Year Book of Prayer. Mrs. Herman Boatright, program chairman for the year thanked everyone for their cooperation and presented a gift to Mrs. Paul Showalter for being circle chairman.

A very pretty candlelight installation was performed by Mrs. Lowell Moore. The officers installed for the coming year were: Chairman, Mrs. Paul Showalter; vice chairman, Mrs. Lonnie Lamkin; treasurer, Miss Ann Gross; secretary, Mrs. Robert Brown; program and literature, Mrs. Herman Boatright; stewardship and spiritual growth, Mrs. Willard Wiley; spiritual education, Mrs. Lowell Moore; missionary education, Mrs. Byford Wiley; prayer, evangelism and membership, Mrs. Hudson Mudge; National and Foreign Missions and Christian Education, Mrs. Richard Jelliffe; local church service and flower chairman, Mrs. David Simmons.

A short business meeting was held after the installation. Mrs. Paul Larson, who has recently moved back to Harrisburg, was welcomed by the members.

Mrs. William Burroughs was very pleasantly surprised by a baby shower given by the members of the Alpha circle.

Mrs. Burroughs, assisted by Miss Anne Gross, Miss Blanche Gross, and Mrs. David Simmons, served dessert and coffee.

Big Ridge Home Bureau Unit Meets For Christmas Dinner

The Big Ridge Home Bureau unit met in the home of Mrs. J. W. Wintzler for a Christmas dinner and party, Dec. 19. The house and table were appropriately decorated for the Christmas season and admired by the guests. Following the noon dinner there was a short business meeting and the minor lesson, "Gifts From the Kitchen," was given by Mrs. Charlotte Fox. Christmas gifts were exchanged and the secret pals revealed amid much surprised laughter.

Those attending were: Mrs. Blanche Wintzler, Mrs. Tessie Wintzler, Mrs. Shirley Wintzler and children, Mrs. Ethel Oliver, Mrs. Ethel McCormick, Mrs. Mae Mudge, Mrs. Etta Hines, Mrs. Lela Cummins, Mrs. Charlotte Fox, Mrs. Marie Walls and the hostess. Four special guests were Mrs. Helen Partain, Mrs. Genevieve Alvey, Mrs. May Nelle Gates and Mrs. Johnny Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Rawlings, Harrisburg, were called to Marion, Ky., Sunday by the illness of Mr. Rawlings' only brother, Oscar Rawlings. Oscar Rawlings has been taken to Riverside hospital in Paducah, Ky., and his condition is reported to be improving.

Sgt. Donald O'Toole, now stationed at Fort George Meade, Md., is visiting with his mother, Mrs. Alice O'Toole, and his children, Alice Ann and Ronnie Allen O'Toole, during the Christmas holidays. He will return to camp on Saturday.

Air Force M/Sgt. Eddie Foy, from Dover, Del., spent Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Foy who reside west of Harrisburg.

Mrs. Carl Stokich, Harrisburg, Announces Daughter's Engagement

Miss Mary Ann Stokich (Ronnie's Studio Photo)

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Mary Ann Stokich, 1212 Hobson street, Harrisburg, daughter of Mrs. Carl (Eunice) Stokich and the late Carl Stokich, to Caswell C. Martin, son of Mrs. Ruth L. Martin, Carrier Mills, is being made.

The wedding is scheduled for January 4 in the Second Baptist church at Marion.

Harrisburg Women Guests For Dinner In Carbondale

Miss Lorene Dorris and Mary Louise Streich were dinner guests of Mrs. John Searing in Carbondale Saturday evening. Mrs. Nels Rumose of Houston, Texas, is a house guest of Mrs. Searing and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Garman of Carbondale, recently of Texas, were guests also. Mrs. Searing, Mrs. Rudmose and Mrs. Garman are sisters.

Miss Dorris played on the new Hammond organ that has just been installed in the home and neighbors of Mrs. Searing called to visit the sisters and enjoy the music.

Mrs. Lily Chitty, mother of Robert Keltner, is a medical patient at the Lightner hospital.

Xi Chi Members Hold Christmas Dinner Party

Members of Xi Chi, Beta Sigma Phi, met in the Rathskeller of the Elk's club for their Christmas dinner party and gift exchange last Tuesday evening.

Upon arrival guests were served punch from a beautiful table covered with a white cloth with a net overskirt and accents of gold. The dinner tables also were covered with white cloths, gold place mats and table decorations of white and gold. Lucky prizes were won by Mrs. Jack Davenport, Mrs. Gene Bland and Mrs. John C. Stump. Each guest received a miniature of the prizes as a favor.

Mrs. Robert R. Brown was chairman of the committee in charge of the party and she was assisted by Mrs. G. B. Wiley, Mrs. Elmer McCormick, Mrs. Tommy Foster, Mrs. Sam Barter, Mrs. Wendell Bramlet and Miss Cuba Turner. Mrs. Roy Metcalf and Mrs. B. E. Montgomery, honorary members of Xi Chi, were especially invited guests. Others present were Mesdames Orlie Brothers, Lowell Moore, Lewis Fulkerson, C. E. Seten Jr., George Barnes, James H. Arensman, J. A. Bottomley, Eli Lasersohn, H. V. McDaniel, Glenn Wallace, George Johnson, Herman Boatright, Lonnie Lamkin, Glynn McCormack, Fred Wilmoth and Miss Jeanette James.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Applegate Entertain for Christmas Dinner

Guests for Christmas dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Applegate, 200 West Park street, Harrisburg, on Christmas day were their son and family, Dr. and Mrs. Don E. Applegate and daughter, Susan, from Richmond, Ind., who visited in the home for about a week during the Christmas holiday; their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Applegate, Carbondale, and Mrs. J. O. Patterson, Kankakee, Ill. and Mrs. A. B. Vancil, Carbondale, and Mr. and Mrs. Rufe Wells, Harrisburg.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Schwartz, 616 West Parish street, Harrisburg, visited Mr. and Mrs. Mike Banovich, uncle and aunt of her fiancé, Ed Chase, in Chicago through Christmas. She went to Chicago Dec. 21 and returned Saturday. Mr. Chase, who accompanied her to her parents' home in Harrisburg, returned to Chicago Monday, where he is employed by the Bell Telephone company.

REV. R. L. WESTERVELT

Rev. R. L. Westervelt Accepts Pastorate Of Indiana Church

Rev. Rowland L. Westervelt and his family will leave Shawneetown Thursday, January 2 after a pastorate of 8 1/2 years at the Presbyterian Church here, and some six years at the Ringgold Presbyterian Church. Rev. Westervelt also served the Saline Mines Church for 4 1/2 years and was Director of the Egyptian Larger Parish since September of 1953.

Mr. Westervelt first came to this area as a summer student worker in the Egyptian Larger Parish in the summer of 1948, when he conducted five vacation Bible Schools in Presbyterian churches, including Shawneetown, Ringgold and Saline Mines. Completing his final year at the Biblical Seminary in New York in May, 1949, he accepted the call to the Shawneetown and Saline Mines churches, and arrived in Shawneetown on July 7, 1949. Mrs. Westervelt, the former Norma Abbott of Hammond, Ind., was also a student at the Biblical Seminary, and she and Mr. Westervelt were united in marriage in January 1949, in the Seminary chapel.

Interested in rural church work, Mr. Westervelt was instrumental in getting the Lord's Acre plan at work in both the Ringgold and the Saline Mines Churches. In 1955, along with ten other Presbyterian pastors, in Illinois, he was awarded

Out-of-Town Relatives, Friends Attend Funeral Of Mrs. Ollie Hubbs

Babson's Business and Financial Forecast for '58

sions, and other "fringes."
10. European countries will have less to spend for American goods, and foreign trade will decline in 1958 compared with 1957.

Money Outlook

11. Money will continue to be
"tight" during 1958 for new borrowers who have not established a satisfactory line of credit.

12. Owing to declining demands for funds, interest rates will decline in 1958.

13. Concerns with large numbers of employees will receive first consideration both by banks and by the government.

14. For fear of World War III, and due to declining business,
many plans for expansion of plants
will be postponed.

15. Money rates may be "fixed" during 1958 by an economic dictator.

16. Lower money rates will make it easier to sell long-term bonds during 1958.

17. The supply of non-taxable state, municipal, turnpike and other "Authority" bonds will increase during 1958.

18. I forecast higher prices for many corporation bonds.

19. Investors will continue, during 1958, to switch from stocks to attractive bond issues; fear of war
will rule all markets.

20. Bankers will fear that the government—as a part of the cold war—will appoint a dictator to direct the policies of all national banks, the leading stock exchanges, and investment dealers.

Labor Outlook

21. There will be a general fear that the government—as a part of the cold war—will fix wages in many industries and prevent further increases during 1958.

22. The revelations brought about by the investigation of the Teamsters Union may lead to important new labor legislation.

23. The Taft-Hartley Law will not be repealed in 1958, and may be made more severe. Much,
however, will depend upon President Eisenhower's physical and mental condition.

24. Congressional attempt will be made to eliminate the present exemption of labor unions from anti-monopoly laws.

25. 1958 will be a bad year for labor leaders. I forecast that there will be an increase of unemployment during 1958.

26. I forecast that with the possible exception of the auto industry, there will be no national strikes during 1958.

27. I forecast that automation will slowly increase during 1958.

28. If wages should be fixed as a part of the cold-war program,
retail prices will also be fixed.

29. All workers, especially office workers, will be more efficient in 1958. It will be more difficult for the next group of college graduates to get good positions at high wages.

30. For the past few years labor has been sitting in the driver's seat. Many industrialists and political leaders have feared that the country is headed for a socialist or labor government. A cheerful sign now is that such fears may,
temporarily at least, be forgotten.
The American working man is himself becoming disgusted with too powerful labor leaders. This should be good news to all honest employers.

Outlook For Real Estate

31. Land adjoining cities and towns will increase in value during 1958. This especially applies to small farms.

32. Large commercial farms will continue to prosper during 1958, but the small farmer will continue to suffer if dependent on farming.

33. Under an economic dictator, farmers would receive no increased price supports. If farm prices are fixed, they will be at lower levels.

34. Large cities may continue to lose in population. Large city real estate will sell for less, for fear of Russian missiles.

35. The growth of suburbs will continue, although many houses
now occupied by well-paid executives will be forced on the market as their owners lose their present high-salaried positions.

36. Construction activity in many communities will decline.
Older houses, will come on the market.

37. In many sections of the country there will be a greater demand for co-operative modern apartments than for single houses, although old apartment houses will sell for less. More young people and old people will insist upon every modern convenience and upon locations not absolutely dependent on automobiles.

38. Well-located woodlands will continue to increase in price. This certainly applies to pine woodlands.

Kentucky Wesleyan Downs SIU, 61-59, in All-American Tourney

OWENSBORO, Ky., (AP)—Host Kentucky Wesleyan College will be shooting to defend its All-Ameri-

Kansas Beats Kansas State to Win Big 8 Meet

By United Press

Wilt Chamberlain and his Kansas cohorts provided fresh evidence today that they're both very good and very lucky.

The nation's top player and No.
1 team passed their biggest test of the season so far when they beat second-ranked Kansas State, 79-65, Monday night to win the Big Eight tournament at Kansas City, Mo.

Chamberlain enjoyed one of his best nights of the current campaign with 38 points and a backboard-dominating 18 rebounds.
His 106 points for three games
set a tournament record and Kansas' victory

Anna Man New SII President

HERRIN, Ill. (AP)—Jack Lewis, Anna, is the new president of Southern Illinois Inc., an area development and planning group.

Lewis was chosen head of SII at a meeting here Monday. He will assume office next month, succeeding R. A. Bonfield, West Frankfort.

Lewis, of Murphysboro, was elected secretary. Treasurer J. W. Hayton, Carverville, and Board Chairman J. V. Walker, Herrin, were re-elected.

New directors are Dr. M. V. Brown, Carbondale, and A. R. Cairns, Sparta. Eight other directors were re-elected.

Boy, 11, Killed By Live Grenade

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Eleven-year-old Donald Kruger played soldier with a live hand grenade Monday. It blew off his hands and killed him.

Donald's mother said he found it in their closet, apparently left by one of the soldiers from Fort Carson, Colo., who had previously lived in the house.

"I hope that soldier has this on his conscience as long as he lives," she said. "I know I will."

The three other boys in the family, who watched Donald pull the pin on the grenade, backed off in fear and escaped serious injuries.

It exploded close to his chest, blew off his hands and drove metal fragments into his chest and stomach.

Donald tottered into the house screaming:

"Mommy, I'm dead! I'm dead!"

The boy collapsed, and he died 45 minutes later under surgery.

The previous night, the boys showed the grenade to Victor Jech, Donald's stepfather, who said he didn't know what it was. Police said Jech, a window cleaner, threw the grenade under a bed, not thinking it was dangerous.

Moscow Reports Progress in Harnessing H-Bomb

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio claimed today that Russia made "the first substantial progress" toward harnessing the H-bomb reaction for peaceful use during 1957.

The claim was made in a year-end broadcast on 1957's achievements by Alexander Terpigorev of the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

"The Soviet physicists, for the first time in the world," he said, "obtained a temperature of over one million degrees."

"They observed under laboratory conditions the phenomena taking place during the explosion of an H-bomb."

"This is the first substantial progress in work aimed at obtaining a controlled thermonuclear reaction."

His broadcast, which was beamed at France, gave no further details of Soviet work on the controlled H-bomb.

Mears Brothers Murder Trial Set in Gallatin County

Three New Haven brothers, charged with the shotgun murder of Vincent York on July 19, are scheduled to be tried for murder in Gallatin County Circuit Court at a jury session which opens Monday with Judge Roy Gulley of Benton presiding.

The trio, Donald Ray Mears and his brothers, Hallas and Robert Mears, were indicted by a special Gallatin County grand jury in September. Hallas and Robert are each out on $20,000 bail and Donald has posted $75,000 bond.

Evidence presented at an inquest held in the death of the 74-year-old man pointed to Ray as the one who fired the shotgun that resulted in his death. He was reportedly sitting on the porch at his home peeling potatoes around 5:00 p. m. when the fatal shot struck him in the chest, shoulder and eye. He died in an ambulance enroute to a hospital, according to the testimony.

The law firm of Rumsey and Dennis of Harrisburg is counsel for the defendants. Attorneys Fletcher Lewis of Murphysboro and Joe Hale of Ridgway are assisting States Attorney Alton Greer in the prosecution.

Mrs. Thomas Abell Dies Near Eldorado

Mrs. Katie Abell, 81, widow of Thomas Abell, died at 3:15 a. m. today in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elisha Craig, north of Eldorado. The body is in the care of the Eldorado funeral home and funeral plans have not been completed.

The United States Supreme Court meets on the second Monday in October for a session which generally extends through to July.

Grand Jury Blasts Lawyers in Cook County Probe

CHICAGO (AP)—The Cook County grand jury wound up its probe of the county treasurer's office with a blast at lawyers involved in the investigation, the county administration and groups describing themselves as "tax consultants."

A four-page report was delivered Monday to Chief Justice Harold P. O'Connell of Criminal Court, 90 days after the probe began.

The Chicago Bar Assn. was asked to make "an extensive investigation into the professional conduct of certain members of the bar involved in the investigation."

The grand jury said some of the lawyers invoked "the doctrine of privileged communication between lawyer and client" in order to bypass questioning.

Others "flatly refused to testify on grounds of possible self-incrimination," the report said.

E. Douglas Schwantes, president of the Association, said the bar could only "stand by until we get more definite information."

The county treasurer's office was criticized for failure to do no more than stop the fraudulent practices once they were discovered.

Southern Illinois Retail Trade Over Billion Yearly

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Annual retail sales in the southern 31 counties of Illinois are now over the $1 billion mark, the current issue of the Southern Illinois Business Bulletin reports.

Sales of $1,029,019,000 last year were 12 percent above the figure for 1954, according to an article by Charles Rosenbarger, instructor in business administration at Southern Illinois University.

The greatest percentage gain in the two-year period was registered by Edwards county (43.1 percent), and Lawrence county was second (35.8 percent). Retail sales declined in seven counties.

Rosenbarger says Southern Illinois retailers are getting a greater share of increases in consumer incomes than is true of Illinois and U. S. retailers generally. Last year, area residents spent an estimated 66.5 percent of their after-tax incomes in local stores.

The pattern of retail sales in Southern Illinois is characterized by cross-currents, the article states. For example, Edwards county retailers rank up sales equal to 100 percent of resident after-tax incomes last year while retailers in adjoining Wayne county were getting only 50 percent.

Peabody's Pana Mine Is Closed

PANA, Ill. (AP)—The big Peabody Coal Co. mine No. 17 was closed today with an official notice posted on the mine bulletin board.

The notice said the mine would cease operations with the ending of the last shift Dec. 30. The mine employed about 500 persons.

W. R. Wootton, 82, Former Resident of Corinth Township, Dies

W. R. Wootton, 82, 409 South Spillman street, Marion, died Monday morning. The body will lie in state at the Courtney funeral home in Galatia and the funeral will be held there at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Rev. Bill Reeves, pastor of the Johnston City First Christian church will officiate and burial will be in the Rose Hill cemetery at Marion.

Mr. Wootton is survived by his sons, Trevor Wootton and Cecil Wootton of Johnston City, and Harold Wootton, Peoria, and his daughter, Mrs. Velma D. Absher, Palatine. He was formerly a resident of Corinth township near the Saline county line in Williamson county.

Pinkneyville Farmer Is Killed by Truck

PINKNEYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—William Edward Pabst, 56, Pinkneyville farmer, was killed late Monday when he was struck by a truck while walking along a black-top road northeast of here.

State police said the truck driver, William F. Cason, also of Pinkneyville, told them another car was approaching and he did not see Pabst.

Mt. Pleasant Church Usher Board Meets

The usher board of the Mt. Pleasant Baptist church met in the dining room of the church Monday evening. Mrs. Nellie Adams was the hostess at the meeting. The group sang hymns and the devotion was taken from St. John. Martin Anderson led in prayer.

During the social hour ice cream, cookies and coffee were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Rawlings, Mrs. Willie Canterbury, Mrs. Willie Lowe, Mrs. Estelle Barnhill and Mrs. Adams.

Eisenhower to Offer Budget With Surplus

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—The White House said today that President Eisenhower plans to submit to Congress a 1959 budget which will be higher than this year, but balanced and with "a slight surplus."

The announcement followed a conference of two hours and 15 minutes between the President, Budget Director Percival Brundage, Deputy Budget Director Maurice Stans and Dr. James R. Killian, scientific adviser to the President. Killian also had a separate meeting with Eisenhower.

Administration officials said the budget undoubtedly would be above this year's 72 billion dollars, the increase due largely to increased defense spending for the space era.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he did not expect taxes would have to be raised to keep the higher budget in balance.

"But there'll be no tax reductions," he said with a touch of grimness.

Science Advisor For Each Cabinet Member Urged

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science said today each member of President Eisenhower's Cabinet should have a science advisor or to keep pace with the technical age.

"I think it's quite necessary that some intimate knowledge of science be available in each executive department," said Dr. Laurence H. Snyder of the University of Oklahoma.

Snyder said he was certain Congress will be asked to put the plan in effect when about 500 of the nation's scientists meet in Washington next year to review "hundreds of proposals" for boosting this country in its technical race with Russia.

Snyder said he would resist any proposal for a new Cabinet post of secretary of science because "I don't think science ought to be compartmentalized that way."

He said the most urgent need was to send financial aid to the nation's universities.

"I think that if Congress would supply money to the universities with no strings attached they could find the best way to train scientists and improve science," he said.

State Sues Epping And Accountant

It also named the firm.

The suit charged that at the same time Epping was a "partner" in the firm he was "appointed by Auditor Hodge, or in the alternative, assumed the appointment, as office manager, and/or administrative assistant in the office of the auditor . . . and in this capacity he assumed, performed and exercised the duties and functions of an employee of the state of Illinois."

Epping was ousted as a partner in the Mersinger firm before he pleaded guilty to conspiracy in the Hodge scandal and was sent to prison.

The suit charged that Epping, at the same time he was, in effect, a state employee, was receiving state funds through his partnership in the accounting firm.

Hodge contracted with the Mersinger firm to perform audits required as part of the state auditor's duties.

Ben-Gurion Quits; to Form New Cabinet

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion submitted his resignation today and was immediately asked to form a new cabinet.

Ben-Gurion had been so confident President Itzhak Ben Zvi would ask him to continue as premier he already had started holding political consultations on the makeup of the new government.

He resigned today in a political move to drive two rebellious left-wing parties out of his government.

Ben-Gurion was unable under the constitution to dismiss the Ahdut Avoda (unity of labor) and the Mapam (united workers) ministers so he decided to submit the resignation of the entire cabinet.

President Itzhak Ben Zvi would then ask him to form another government and he could do so with out calling on the two rebellious parties. He would be named premier again because his own Mapai (Israel labor) party is by far the largest in the Knesset (parliament).

The outgoing cabinet is Ben-Gurion's fifth. It lasted for two years and 56 days, the longest in the history of the young state of Israel.

There was a possibility Ben-Gurion would form only a caretaker cabinet since general elections are due in 1959 and are generally expected to be moved up to the summer of 1958. The elections would give Ben-Gurion an opportunity to

J. Chester Borah, 75, State Official, Dies

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—J. Chester Borah, 75, Agriculture Department superintendent of plant industry, died late Monday at St. John's hospital.

Borah had been ill for some time. Formerly of Fairfield, he had lived in Springfield about five years.

He recently was elected president of the National Seed Analysts and Inspectors in absentia. Borah was ill at the time of the national group's meeting and could not attend.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at Fairfield.

Seize Carpenter On Murder and Kidnap Charges

MIAMI (AP)—Wayne Carpenter, 21, wanted on murder and kidnapping charges in Washington, was picked up as a vagrant Monday night in West Palm Beach.

The partner-in-crime of Henry Clay Overton, 44, who was killed Sunday in a flaming head-on collision in Georgia while trying to escape police, meekly identified himself after his arrest.

Carpenter and Overton, according to police, became angry about a bar bill in Washington, D. C., last Friday and shot and killed the tavern owner and a singer and wounded a blind pianist.

The kidnapping charge is in connection with the pair's alleged seizure of a young soldier and a girl and use of their car to flee Washington, taking the couple across a state line. The other count is unlawful flight to escape prosecution for the felony of murder.

Circulate Primary Petitions in Gallatin County

With the primary elections still more than three months away petitions for several candidates for county offices in Gallatin county are being circulated, according to reports.

Petitions for three incumbents—County Clerk Yules Wren, County Judge Joe Hale and County Superintendent of Schools Horace Brown—are in circulation. Wren of Shawneetown and Hale of Ridgway are Republicans. Brown is a Democrat from Ridgway.

Other petitions include four for sheriff—Republicans Jim Fox of Shawneetown and Jewell Sisk of Equality and Democrats Bailey Miller of Equality and Zack Woods of Junction.

Petitions are also being circulated for Bernard Scherrer, Shawneetown Democrat, for treasurer.

Young Woman Dies in Plunge

CHICAGO (AP)—A young woman died in a fall through a stairwell into the lobby of International House, dormitory on the University of Chicago campus, early today.

Her features were mangled and police and school authorities said identification was difficult. Director H. T. Fultz of International House said permanent residents at the dormitory did not seem to know her and it was possible she was a transient guest.

John Collins, 67, night clerk, said he heard the woman fall about 5 a. m. She was clad in a green nightdress and slippers.

She was believed to have plunged from the sixth or seventh floor.

Wilson Says He Was Overruled on Military Budget

DETROIT (AP)—Former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said today President Eisenhower overruled his request for a "considerable" increase in military spending a year ago and chopped it down before submitting the budget to Congress.

At the same time Wilson hung the label "Monday morning quarterback" on critics who claim the United States was caught napping in the missile race with Russia.

Wilson, 67, who stepped down from the Defense Department post late this year, said Eisenhower trimmed his budget request before submitting it to Congress because he believed the economy-minded congressmen would not go along with it.

"His prediction was right, too, because they cut the budget from 38.5 billion dollars down to 36 before they were through," Wilson said.

He declined to say what his estimate of the needs for defense spending were before the President cut it, but he said "it was closer to 40 billion dollars than it was to 38.5."

The President said "he didn't know where to get the $38,500,000,000 and he didn't," Wilson said. He added that he accepted the President's judgment because "basically, I'm a team player in a big organization and when it comes to the last five per cent one way or the other, I figure it's up to the President."

POUNDING TOWARD THE finish line, Iron Liege (on rail) and Gallant Man battle it out in 83rd running of the Kentucky Derby at Louisville's Churchill Downs. Iron Liege, with Willie Hartack aboard, hung on to win by a nose.

←LAST DAY AT the Polo Grounds found New York Giants racing off field with eager fans in pursuit. After years of speculation major league baseball moved to the West Coast. The Giants will play in San Francisco in 1958. The Brooklyn Dodgers will set up shop in Los Angeles.

SWEAT AND LEW BURDETTE was story of Milwaukee's pulsating World Series triumph over the New York Yankees. Burdette, above, a 30-year-old righthander, was the first pitcher in 37 years to win three starting assignments in the World Series. He stopped the vaunted Yanks, 4-2, 1-0, 5-0.

TWO MONTHS AFTER Boston offered a million dollars for him, Cleveland's Herb Score was hit in eye by liner off bat of Gil McDougald. Score says he'll return to pitching mound in 1958.

←UPSET OF THE YEAR came when Dick Lynch romped across Oklahoma's goal line for the only score in Notre Dame's 7-0 victory over odds-on favorite Sooners. Irish victory ended Oklahoma's 47-game winning streak.

PAYOFF PUNCH, and probably hardest punch of the year, is landed by Sugar Ray Robinson on the chin of Gene Fullmer in fifth round of their second bout. Busy Robinson lost the title to Fullmer in January, won it back from Fullmer in May, then lost it to Carmen Basilio in a bruising September battle.

There was nothing I could do now until I'd talked to Sandra, who was married to two men, Duke Calvin and Wayne Howell. I knew that Hugo Howell would be overjoyed at the news. It meant that Wayne's marriage to Sandra was not legal, and unless he married again with in the next month, before his 25th birthday, half of the trust fund would go automatically to Hugo, which was what Hugo had wanted in the first place. I felt a little joyous, too, because my client would now be able to pay the agency's fee.

I doubted that Wayne would meet and marry another woman in a month's time, even if he recovered from a broken heart that quickly. I felt sorry for Wayne, but not too sorry; I was convinced that he'd be much happier without Sandra, no matter what tender passion he felt for her now. And I decided definitely that I would not give Hugo the good news until after I'd pulled the rug out from under Sandra. I had no doubt that Hugo would soon run through his share of the trust money, but I didn't worry about it. I'd done the job for which I'd been originally hired, and I'd done it without resorting to unethical procedures. I felt a little smug about the whole thing.

I didn't worry too much about the safety of Hugo Howell. He was down the hall in his room behind a locked door, sleeping, I hoped. I was certain that he was too frightened to venture out. If he did go out, after I'd warned him not to, it was his neck. I had disliked the man, but my opinion of him had undergone a subtle change in the last hour. Perhaps the news that he had contributed to charities had softened my feelings toward him, that and the revealing flicker of intelligence I'd seen in his eyes. I told myself not to sell Hugo short. I still did not exactly like him, but I'd acquired a little respect for him as a human being.

I doubted that Ambrose Lott's killer was still lurking about, at least not in the daytime. But one thing prodded the back of my brain and it was definitely a jarring note; I couldn't forget the blow on my head and my frantic fear in the water when I was certain I was about to drown. Maybe Ambrose Lott had done it, in revenge for his friend and former employer. But Lott was dead now, and beyond all reproach. Maybe it had been a sneak thug, a nameless stranger, intent upon robbery, and then frightened away at Wayne Howell's fortunate approach.

Who wanted Hugo dead? The same person who had attacked me, maybe watching in the Harbor House bar, seeing that Hugo was drunk and apparently well-heeled?

I walked to the police station. When I arrived there I remembered that Chief Campbell had been on duty all night and would probably now be home sleeping. Gus, the young policeman, was behind the desk. I asked if any information had come in from the Detroit police. He said, "Yes, early this morning."

"Mind telling me what it is?" "Not at all. The chief said to tell you if you asked." Then he gave me practically the same information on Ambrose Lott and Hugo Howell that I'd gotten from Lew Hancock, and mentioned that Howell was on the books in Detroit for only the one drunken driving charge.

Gus said, "Since this Lott doesn't have any relatives, I suppose the county will have to bury him here." "Howell said he'd take care of the funeral," I told him. "Tell the chief to see him about it."

I did not mention the information I'd received on Sandra Osterman-Calvin-Howell, but decided to tell it to Campbell when I saw him, as a matter of policy. He wasn't as interested in Sandra as I was, and I could see no connection between Sandra and Ambrose Lott's death, but it never hurt to show all your cards to the law—when it appeared advisable.

ell. He had shaved and looked quite neat, for him. And he seemed fairly sober. I saw that he'd put on the blue sport shirt I'd seen in his bag. It looked fresh and clean, as did his white duck trousers.

I said coldly, "You were supposed to stay in your room." He waved a hand. "Aw, don't get sore. I got fidgety in there. So I cleaned up and had a drink—just a little one." He held up

Rosiclar coach Bill Piland has been on crutches for three weeks and may be for a long time to come. Talked with him briefly during the first night of the Carrier Mills tourney and he stated he didn't know when he would be able to throw the crutches away. Early this month during a basketball practice session Piland was running through some plays with his team when one of the players crashed into his coach, striking him a hard blow on the right thigh with a knee. A rupture resulted and there is internal bleeding. Piland stated.

Rest was recommended and the trip to Carrier Mills was Piland's first with the team since the accident. He wasn't back for the final night and the team was directed by J. R. Martin, Rosiclar principal.

The basketball picture can change in a hurry. In the opening game of the Carrier Mills tourney Metropolis went through the entire second quarter against Rosiclar without being called for a foul. Then in the opening 20 seconds of the third quarter Metropolis was whistled twice.

And on the subject of fouls, saw two unusual calls, both against Johnston City, during the CM tourney.

An old rule was dusted off during the JC-CM game on opening night. With an Indian at the free throw line and apparently in no hurry to shoot one of the officials suddenly yelled "You have taken too much time," grabbed the ball and gave it to Carrier Mills out of bounds.

Conversation later with the official revealed there is a rule allowing only 10 seconds for a free throw.

The official stated it was a very unusual call and I talked with many fans and only one remembered ever seeing it called before and "it was a long time ago."

Many times I have seen players take a lot of time, apparently from being nervous. They would bounce the ball, aim at the basket, then bounce the ball some more, lay it down and wipe their hands, bounce the ball, aim at the basket, and finally shoot.

Guess the officials overlook all this nervous action. But Thursday night the player was just standing at the free throw line looking around and talking. "Unnecessary delay of the game," ruled the official.

And in the consolation game against Rosiclar a JC player got real close to an opponent and put his hands in front of his face, then moved his hands up-and-down real fast in front of the Rosiclar player's eyes. A technical foul was called.

Al Gunzel, former Shawneetown high school cage ace now a sophomore at Tulane, and Howard Dodds, former West Frankfort standout, were opponents Saturday in the All-College Basketball Tournament.

at Oklahoma City. Dodds' Western Kentucky team beat Tulane 78-72. Dodds failed to score, but Gunzel hit for one basket.

Bill Hollada, SIU athletic publicist, was through Harrisburg Saturday and left a copy of the SIU winter sports schedule while chatting for a few minutes at The Register. SIU hosts Illinois Wesleyan Saturday night. All home varsity games start at 8:15 p. m.

SIU also has an attractive wrestling, swimming and gymnastics schedule.

Expect 380,000 Fans to Attend Seven New Year's Day Football Bowl Games

By United Press

The 1957 college football season draws to a close tomorrow but not until approximately 380,000 in-person fans have had a last chance to root for their heroes in seven New Year's Day Bowl games.

A vast "unseen" audience also will take in the action via TV and radio in a continuous barrage which begins around 1:30 p. m. e.s.t. and rolls on for about six hours.

Ohio State, voted the nation's No. 1 team by the United Press board of coaches, meets Oregon in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.; the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, Tex., offers Navy vs. Rice; Mississippi tangles with Texas in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans and Oklahoma meets Duke in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., in the major games.

In the minor bowl games Drake meets Louisville in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., Mississippi Southern plays East Texas State in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., and Texas Southern meets Prairie View in the Prairie View Bowl at Houston, Tex.

A crowd of 100,000 is anticipated for the Rose Bowl with Ohio State, winner of eight in a row after dropping its opening game, favored by 20 points over Pacific Coast Conference champion Oregon. With the PCC torn by withdrawals, Tuesday's game may mark the last between the Big Ten and PCC in a series which has seen the Midwestern schools win 10 of the 11 games played.

The Navy-Rice game features a pair of excellent quarterbacks in Tom Forrestal and King Hill. Forrestal heads a Navy team which has good balance in all departments, plus its confusing "jitterbug" defensive alignment. Hill is as resourceful as Forrestal and has a favorite passing target in end Buddy Dial, the nation's leading pass receiver.

Navy (8-1-1) is picked by one point with a crowd of 82,000 expected.

Both coaches are looking for a break in the Mississippi-Texas game. Ole Miss (8-1-1) never has lost to a Southwest Conference team in a bowl game and is picked by 2 1/2 points. The Longhorns, who wound up second to Rice in the Southwest Conference, had an overall record of 6-3-1 and boast a pair of fine signal callers in Fondren and Bobby Lackey. The crowd is expected to top 80,000.

Oklahoma, a one-time loser this season, is picked by 10 over Duke. The Sooners may have to play without No. 1 quarterback Carl Dodd and No. 2 tackle Jerry Thompson, but they still have more guns than Duke can silence. However, the Blue Devils, who had a 6-2-2 record including a tie with Navy, are near peak condition and the game could wind up real close. A sellout crowd of 75,000 is expected.

The Sun Bowl game is anticipated a crowd of 15,000, the Prairie View 20,000 and the Tangerine 13,000 for a night game to round out the day's activity.

Every part of the mainland of the United States is subject to frosts.

Relocation of Dam Opposed by Soil Districts

Members of the Gallatin, White and Saline Counties Soil Conservation Districts in a meeting December 20th-1957 at Ridgway, Illinois, unanimously passed the following resolution:

"Whereas, The Soil Conservation Districts are an advocate of Better Land and Water Use and the treatment of every acre according to its needs likewise use of each acre according to its capabilities.

"Whereas, The Gallatin, The Saline and White County Soil Conservation Districts were organized by farmers for farmers of their respective counties and the future welfare of our State and Nation.

"Whereas, The Districts approve of Soil Conservation Districts or large groups working together for the benefit of all without bringing hardships or damage to others.

"Whereas, The Gallatin County, The Saline County and The White County Soil Conservation Districts do not oppose drainage or improved navigation in the Wabash River near its mouth.

"Whereas, hundreds of farmers of Southeastern Illinois are already confronted with Flood and Drainage problems on many thousand acres of land.

"Be it therefore resolved that The Gallatin County, The Saline County and White County Soil Conservation Districts of Southeastern Illinois strongly oppose the proposition of changing the location of a new and higher Dam No. 49 in the Ohio River from the head of Wabash Island to the mouth of the Wabash River."

All Meals Begin with Prayer at Freeman Bacon Home for Aged in Wilmoth Addition

They all sit down together at one table. One will ask the blessing and everyone will repeat a verse from the Bible.

That's the way all meals begin at the home for aged and handicapped persons operated by Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Bacon in a two-story house adjacent to their own home in Wilmoth Addition.

Mr. and Mrs. Bacon have operated the rooming and boarding place for four years and have been constantly improving the premises, with advice now and then from the state department of public health.

They have built a long, enclosed front porch, added a room downstairs, have secured city water and have put on new plasterboard walls and painted them since they began operations.

Right now there are twelve persons living at the home: Two are from Harrisburg, two from Carier Mills, one from Marion, one from Shawneetown, one from Metropolis, and five are from the hospital at Anna, released to the custody of the Bacons.

Mrs. Bacon said that all get along well together, that there are no problems requiring discipline. Downstairs there are three bedrooms with three single beds in each for the men and upstairs there is a large room with four beds for four elderly women.

Playing checkers, watching television and listening to radio is the chief recreation. There are regular religious services at the home, with Rev. Craig, a woman minister, in charge.

Mrs. Bacon said the people living there had a nice Christmas. Besides some receiving gifts from relatives, a women's club from California sent two dozen white towels, a women's club from Canton, Ill., sent two dozen white wash cloths and the Federated club and the Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church Usher Board of Harrisburg brought gifts.

Besides the bedrooms, the house has a well-equipped kitchen, a furnace room which has furnace with stoker and blower, a nice bathroom downstairs and a lavatory and stool upstairs.

During good weather Mr. and Mrs. Bacon take the entire group places, like to the fair and on picnics.

"I really enjoy doing for them; I'm proud of them," Mrs. Bacon stated.

"An investigator who comes here from Anna," she continued, "told me 'Since I've been coming here, I've really been thrilled at seeing how the people are being cared for.'"

Red Skelton Seriously Ill

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Comedian Red Skelton was in serious condition at St. John's hospital today after taking what was described as "nine steps toward death."

The 43-year-old funnyman suffered a "cardiac-asthmatic" attack Monday night at his Bel-Air home while reading a script. He was rushed unconscious to the hospital and placed under an oxygen tent.

Skelton was discovered groaning and gasping for breath by his 10-year-old daughter, Valentinia. She called her mother, who summoned aid for her stricken husband.

"Suppose there are 10 steps to death," Skelton had taken nine of them," said Dr. Garth Graham in a hypothetical example describing the comedian's condition when he was discovered.

Salvation Army Tree of Lights Collects $1,099

Fund Used for Christmas Baskets, Other Welfare Work

The Harrisburg Salvation Army collected $1,099.57 during its Tree of Lights fund campaign in up-town Harrisburg prior to Christmas.

The money was needed for the Salvation Army to distribute Christmas baskets and for other welfare work, as the annual drive fell far short on funds.

But the Tree of Lights campaign did not fall short. The goal was $1,000.

The way it worked was like this: For every $5 contributed to the uptown kettle, a bulb was lighted on the Christmas tree on the southwest corner of the court yard. Different local organizations took turn at working the kettle, along with regular Salvation Army workers.

Lt. Mildred Wallace said that of the total, $493.93 was collected by the organizations, $605.64 by regular workers and by mailed donations.

She listed the amounts collected by groups as follows: Kiwanis $241.37; Business and Professional Women's club $35.76; Rotary $54.18; Woman's club $27.30; Toastmaster's club $25.50; Lions $44.43; Theta Rho chapter of Rebekahs $22.04; American Legion post $19; Pythian Sisters $24.35.

The Kiwanis club will be presented a plaque of recognition for raising the largest amount.

Lt. Wallace said the Army gave 85 Christmas baskets for 368 individuals, the baskets consisting of food and approximately 600 toys. The Army wished to thank the following:

Kresge employees and Pride of Arrow Rebekah lodge members, who exchanged gifts of toys this year and gave them to the Salvation Army.

Vermont McDaniel of Mac's, who through his free show donated approximately 500 cans of food used in the baskets and also gave a number of toys.

Hart's department store for donation of toys.

The Harrisburg fire department members who repaired and repainted used toys that were donated.

P. J. Frankenstein of Carp's and Charles Shingler of Kresge's, for the co-operation given in establishing the Salvation Army hut in front of their businesses.

Businesses, Offices To Observe New Year's Holiday Tomorrow

New Year's Day will be observed in Harrisburg tomorrow as a holiday with most businesses and offices closed. There will be no issue of The Daily Register and the post office will have curtailed mail service.

Run by Fire Department

The fire department made a run at 11:40 p. m. last night to the home of Mrs. Sarilda Walden, 314 East Raymond avenue. Fire Chief L. G. Martin said smoke filling the room from a heating stove was the cause of the alarm and that there was no damage.

State Sues Epping and Accountant for $467,201

New Year Will Ring In with the Usual Large Crowds and High Price Tags

By United Press
Auld Lang Syne will ring out boisterously around the land this New Year's Eve, with celebrants paying about the same price as last year to wake up with the same sized hangover.

A United Press survey indicates the cost of ringing in the new year on the town tonight will be little changed — expensive — and the free-spending crowds also will be about the same — large.

Prices range from $37.50 per at high class bistros in New York and Los Angeles with top name entertainers to the regular prices at the neighborhood bar featuring color television.

Mingling with the din of merry-making will be the peal of church bells calling the devout to church services, many of them all-night watch services.

Warnings of Road Hazards

Another somber note was injected by the National Safety Council, which warned as many as 130 persons will be killed in grinding traffic wrecks, with drunken drivers contributing heavily to the toll.

Weathermen warned of possible heavy snow, rain and sleet in much of the Midwest today. Hazardous driving conditions could send the traffic fatality count skyrocketing.

For those willing to take the risks of holiday traffic and temporary bankruptcy, here's a spot

check of what the situation will be in various parts of the country:

New York City—It will be standing room only on famed Times Square with extra policemen on hand to control the crowd and firemen watching fireboxes to prevent false alarms. New Yorkers will shell out $37.50 per to hear Pearl Bailey at the Empire Room of the Waldorf Astoria. Prices in other night spots will range from $15 to $75.00 per person.

Reservations Up in Hollywood

Los Angeles—Plush nightclubs in Hollywood and vicinity report reservations up somewhat, with about 900 persons expected to jam the Ambassador Hotel's Coconut Grove at $37.50 per person. Elsewhere the tab runs from $17.50 to $25 per.

Chicago—The Chez Paree will have the town's top tariff, $24.60, including a steak dinner and entertainment by Sam Levenson and the Four Lads. The Empire Room of the Palmer House will feature Jaye P. Morgan and a filet mignon check of $19.75.

Milwaukee—The world capital of baseball has a top of $30 per couple, but the average price at nightclubs is $5 per person minimum.

Elsewhere, the tariff runs from $7.50 to $10 at Dallas; $7.50 per at Atlanta, Ga., plus $2.50 for dancing; $10 cover tops at Detroit; $5 to $10 at Washington. $10 minimum in Boston plus tax, and $10 in Minneapolis.

Burglars Enter Two More Places

Two more burglaries in Harrisburg were reported this morning to city and county officers.

Brownie's Store on Elm street was burglarized for the second time this month, with thieves getting some knives and possibly boots, jackets and other items.

The John Schwartz shoe repair shop on South Granger street was entered by burglars who pilfered the place but did not get anything. They apparently were looking for money.

Kiwanis Installs New Officers

New officers were installed at a meeting of the Harrisburg Kiwanis club held last night at the Masonic temple.

Loy Barger, a former lieutenant governor of Division 16 of the Illinois-Eastern Iowa district, was in charge of installing the new officers and outlining their duties.

Installed were: President, Robert Rushing; vice president, the Rev. Glen Daugherty; secretary, Lee House; treasurer, J. C. Beggs. The new board of directors will be composed of Richard Davenport, immediate past president; Joe Hollingsworth, Dwan Frich, Fred Bramlet, Gene Neihaus, Fred Wunderlich and Eugene Morris.

The new president outlined his plans for the coming year and a review was made of the work of former presidents of the club.

Guests were: Jim Williams, guest of his father-in-law, Vern Clayton, Lee Morse, and Dr. S. H. Frazier Jr., guest of his father-in-law, Loy Barger.

President Eisenhower Has No Intention of Resigning Office

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI)—President Eisenhower has no intention of resigning.

He doesn't even think in such terms these days.

He sees no reason why he should resign.

As far as his physical condition is concerned he feels more than adequate for the job. His doctors concur in this confidence today.

Eisenhower does not regard himself as a "part-time president" any more than the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt regarded himself as part-time because of his frequent weekends in Hyde Park, N. Y., or former President Truman and his fondness for week ends on the White House yacht or long holidays in Key West, Fla.

Such is the basic philosophy of the current Chief Executive as he is pelted, largely by Democrats and to a lesser degree by members of his own party, for not stepping out of office because of recurring illnesses and frequent absences from his White House desk.

The United Press is able to report the President's attitude after long talks with some of his closer friends and administration associates who are in frequent if not daily contact with him.

The President's feelings could change with a heart flutter, but today he does not brood or think of himself as a sick man. On the contrary he is restive when work or bad weather in chill Gettysburg prevent him from getting out in the open and riding or striding around his farm.

The latest talk of resignation

started with a Sunday night statement by Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N. Y.) of the House Judiciary Committee. Celler suggested that the President resign temporarily if he continues to be what the congressman called "president in name only."

The President regards this as so much politics and is not particularly nettled by such statements. There have been many similar suggestions since the President suffered a mild stroke last Nov. 25.

Pass Petitions For Representative Committeeman

Petitions were in circulation today for W. K. (Tim) Turner, seeking election to the post of Republican Representative committeeman for Saline county in the 59th Representative district. Ezra Heatherly has circulated petitions for election as Democratic Representative committeeman in the April primary. Both are incumbents.

The law provides that the two party Representative committees have until Jan. 28 to meet and by resolution fix and determine the number of candidates to be nominated for representatives in the General Assembly. Jan. 30 is the last day for the committees to file resolutions determining the number in the office of the secretary of state and the county clerk.

List of Valuable Prizes for First Baby of 1958 in Harrisburg Township

Castle Asks Recovery of Hodge Spending

Suit Charges Money Paid in Violation of Conflict of Interest

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Atty. Gen. Latham Castle today filed suit against Edward A. Epping and East St. Louis accountant Fred M. Mersinger for recovery of $467,201 paid to them and their accounting firm by convicted former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

The suit charged the money was paid in violation of the state conflict of interest law since Epping was an employee of the state and also a partner in the accounting firm which did work for Hodge.

The suit was filed in Sangamon County Circuit Court on behalf of present State Auditor Elbert S. Smith.

The law prohibits state officials and employees from holding contracts with the state.

Epping actually was never on the state payroll as an employee, but the Mersinger firm was paid $1,000 a month for his services by Hodge.

The suit charged that this, in effect, made Epping a state employee.

Special Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert B. Oxtoby said "Hodge went around saying 'Epping is in charge' and introduced him as his office manager. We feel that, in effect, that made Epping an employee."

Ousted as Partner
The suit asked recovery of the $467,201 paid to the Mersinger firm, plus 5 per cent interest.

It said the money should be returned to the state under the provision of the law which requires forfeiture of a contract where a conflict of interest is involved.

The suit named Epping and Mersinger as defendants individually and as partners in the F. M. Mersinger & Co., accounting firm.

Death Takes Mrs. Herbert Barger of Near Stonefort

Mrs. Mary Barger, 69, wife of Herbert Barger, Stonefort RFD 1, near Palestine church, died en route to the hospital at 5:30 p. m. Monday.

She leaves besides her husband: her son, Robert Barger, Indianapolis, Ind.; her sister, Mrs. Ruth Womack, and her brother, Hugh Hawkins, both of Harrisburg; half-brothers, Joe Hawkins and Sidney Hawkins, Carrier Mills; Don Hawkins and Willie Hawkins, Cornington, Ark.; and half-sisters, Mrs. Blanche Cates and Mrs. Gertie Britt, both of Grafton; stepchildren, Cecil Barger and Wilburn Barger, both of Pontiac, Mich., and Loy Barger, Dayton, Ohio; stepdaughters, Mrs. Maxine Moore, Forestill, Mo., and Mrs. Joyce Diefenbach, New Baden. She has one grandchild, Mary Jeanette Barger, Farmington, Mo.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday in the Palestine church with Rev. Harry Carr and Rev. Norman Cozart officiating. Burial will be in the Palestine churchyard.

The body will lie in state at the Gibbons funeral chapel until the funeral.

Henry C. Dempsey Circulates Petitions for Sheriff Nomination

Henry C. Dempsey of Harrisburg, former county and city law-enforcement officer and now in the auto business, today was circulating petitions for the Republican nomination for sheriff of Saline county. He is the second Republican to circulate petitions, the other being Henry DeVar of Harrisburg.

Babson's Business and Financial Forecast for 1958

(By Roger W. Babson)

Next to the Russian situation, President Eisenhower's condition will be of supreme importance. What its influence upon Russia will be, nobody knows. It probably will not affect general business. I believe that for some time our president has not been making important policies and, much to his disappointment, his recommendations have been largely ignored. The major effect of the president's condition will be political. Those close to the president, for both friendship and political reasons, are hoping for his recovery both in health and in memory. Others in charge of the Republican party, anxious about his possible incapacitation or death, would like to see him resign and drop out of the picture in order to give vice-president Nixon a good buildup in the hope of re-electing the Republican party again in 1960.

For evident reasons, the Democrats are hoping that vice-president Nixon will not have an opportunity to function as president before the coming election. Therefore, President Eisenhower's condition could greatly influence the political situation during the next few years. This would cause uncertainty and retard large corporate expansion programs as well as consumer buying.

I cannot believe that Russia wants World War III; in fact, I am confident that Russia will go to some lengths to avoid World War III. In case of any retaliation by us, Russia would suffer great losses. Moreover, if Russia has any hope of conquering our country, she certainly wishes to preserve our cities, industries and other valuable assets. Russia has land enough now; it is our industries which Russia wants. This also applies to England and Western Europe as well as the United States. Therefore my forecasts for 1958 are as follows:

1. The present cold war will be intensified during 1958. This will increase fear of war, which could greatly affect retail sales.

2. Russian policy will be aimed at securing control of the United States, the countries of Western Europe, and the Middle East by infiltration.

3. The cold war costs the United States billions of dollars annually. This can be paid for only through increased taxes or inflation, or by the adoption of the Hoover Commission's recommendations for radical economy.

4. Profits will be further squeezed during 1958, as a result of higher costs and pressure for lower prices.

5. Competition at all levels will increase during 1958.

6. Only more advertising by both manufacturers and retailers will enable them to keep up their present gross volume during 1958.

7. Failures will increase in 1958. These will apply mostly to small concerns, but some one of the big companies in the Dow-Jones Averages may collapse.

8. Predicting a lower total volume of business for 1958, compared with 1957, I forecast a moderately lower trend, on average for wholesale commodity prices. Expect a gradual decrease in the cost-of-living during 1958.

9. Wise labor leaders will hesitate to fight for higher wages, but will try for shorter hours, pen-

Wage Contract Halts Threat of N.Y. Transit Strike

NEW YORK — Michael J. Quill's Transport Workers Union ended today its threat of a New Year's Eve subway and bus strike by accepting a 32 1-2 cent-an-hour contract package designed to head off transit-labor trouble for at least two years.

The agreement will cost the city an estimated $29,250,000. A spokesman for the citizen's committee said the two-year contract provides a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase the first year and an additional 10 cents the second year. Part of the remaining 7 1-2 cents will go into a $2,500,000 fund for the correction of "inequities." The contract, covering 31,000 TWU members employed by city-operated subways and bus lines, will go into effect tomorrow.

Bynums Make Trip to Limoges, Home Of Fine Haviland China in France

Editor's Note: James H. Bynum, native of Stonefort and former HHS teacher, is teaching English and journalism in the army dependent high school at Rochefort, France, and will write his impressions of the area from time to time.

There are supposed to be three tests for fine china. When held to the light good china may be seen through; when struck lightly it has a bell-like ring; and, if it's really good china, one may stand upon it.

We recently made a trip to Limoges, the home of Haviland porcelain. Haviland recognizes no superior china, and probably few are as expensive. In looks the Haviland china is much more attractive than Wedgwood sets of comparable price—due, no doubt, to the famed excellence of French enamels. A ten piece tea service, without taxes or duties, was $30. A one piece porcelain pheasant-hunting scene was 62 mille (about $150).

At that price who would dare to test it by standing on it?

West of Limoges is the tragic village of Oradour. In 1944 the beleaguered Nazis, angered by maquis activity, put a torch to the village and savagely massacred the whole population. The ruins of the martyred village have been declared a historical monument, and stand—charred, empty, and silent—a mute but eloquent witness of cruelty. We took no pictures here,

Alpha Circle Has December Meeting and Surprise Shower

The Alpha circle of the First Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. William Burroughs for its December meeting. The Bible Study, "With What Hope?" was given by Mrs. Ruth Brockett. Mrs. William Burroughs presented the missionary education lesson, and Mrs. Joseph Hollingsworth gave the Year Book of Prayer. Mrs. Herman Boatright, program chairman for the year thanked everyone for their cooperation and presented a gift to Mrs. Paul Showalter for being circle chairman.

A very pretty candlelight installation was performed by Mrs. Lowell Moore. The officers installed for the coming year were: Chairman, Mrs. Paul Showalter; vice-chairman, Mrs. Lonnie Lamkin; treasurer, Miss Ann Gross; secretary, Mrs. Robert Brown; program and literature, Mrs. Herman Boatright; stewardship and spiritual growth, Mrs. Willard Wiley; spiritual education, Mrs. Lowell Moore; missionary education, Mrs. Byford Wiley; prayer, evangelism and membership, Mrs. Hudson Mudge; National and Foreign Missions and Christian education, Mrs. Richard Jelliffe; local church service and flower chairman, Mrs. David Simmons.

A short business meeting was held after the installation. Mrs. Paul Larson, who has recently moved back to Harrisburg, was welcomed by the members.

Mrs. William Burroughs was very pleasantly surprised by a baby shower given by the members of the Alpha circle.

Mrs. Burroughs, assisted by Miss Anne Gross, Miss Blanche Gross, and Mrs. David Simmons, served dessert and coffee.

Big Ridge Home Bureau Unit Meets For Christmas Dinner

The Big Ridge Home Bureau unit met in the home of Mrs. J. W. Wintzler for a Christmas dinner and party, Dec. 19. The house and table were appropriately decorated for the Christmas season and admired by the guests. Following the noon dinner there was a short business meeting and the minor lesson, "Gifts From the Kitchen," was given by Mrs. Charlotte Fox. Christmas gifts were exchanged and the secret pals revealed amid much surprised laughter.

Those attending were: Mrs. Blanche Wintzler, Mrs. Tessie Wintzler, Mrs. Shirley Wintzler and children, Mrs. Ethel Oliver, Mrs. Ethel McCormick, Mrs. Mae Muge, Mrs. Etta Hines, Mrs. Lela Cummins, Mrs. Charlotte Fox, Mrs. Marie Walls and the hostess. Four special guests were Mrs. Helen Partain, Mrs. Genevieve Alvey, Mrs. May Nelle Gates and Mrs. Johnny Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Rawlings, Harrisburg, were called to Marion, Ky., Sunday by the illness of Mr. Rawlings' only brother, Oscar Rawlings. Oscar Rawlings has been taken to Riverside hospital in Paducah, Ky., and his condition is reported to be improving.

Sgt. Donald O'Toole, now stationed at Fort George Meade, Md., is visiting with his mother, Mrs. Alice O'Toole, and his children, Alice Ann and Ronnie Allen O'Toole, during the Christmas holidays. He will return to camp on Saturday.

Air Force M Sgt. Eddie Foy, from Dover, Del., spent Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Foy who reside west of Harrisburg.

The wedding is scheduled for January 4 in the Second Baptist church at Marion.

Harrisburg Women Guests For Dinner In Carbondale

Miss Lorene Dorris and Mary Louise Streich were dinner guests of Mrs. John Searing in Carbondale Saturday evening. Mrs. Nels Rumose of Houston, Texas, is a house guest of Mrs. Searing and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Garman of Carbondale, recently of Texas, were guests also. Mrs. Searing, Mrs. Rudmose and Mrs. Garman are sisters.

Miss Dorris played on the new Hammond organ that has just been installed in the home and neighbors of Mrs. Searing called to visit the sisters and enjoy the music.

Mrs. Lily Chitty, mother of Robert Keltner, is a medical patient at the Lightner hospital.

Xi Chi Members Offer Christmas Dinner Party

Members of Xi Chi, Beta Sigma Phi, met in the Rathskeller of the Elk's club for their Christmas dinner party and gift exchange last Tuesday evening.

Upon arrival guests were served punch from a beautiful table covered with a white cloth with a net overskirt and accents of gold. The dinner tables also were covered with white cloths, gold place mats and table decorations of white and gold. Lucky prizes were won by Mrs. Jack Davenport, Mrs. Gene Bland and Mrs. John C. Stump. Each guest received a miniature of the prizes as a favor.

Mrs. Robert R. Brown was chairman of the committee in charge of the party and she was assisted by Mrs. G. B. Wiley, Mrs. Elmer McCormick, Mrs. Tommy Foster, Mrs. Sam Barter, Mrs. Wendell Bramlett and Miss Cuba Turner. Mrs. Roy Metcalf and Mrs. B. E. Montgomery, honorary members of Xi Chi, were especially invited guests. Others present were Mesdames Orlie Brothers, Lowell Moore, Lewis Fulkerson, C. E. Seten Jr., George Barnes, James H. Arensman, J. A. Bottomley, Eli Lasersohn, H. V. McDaniel, Glenn Wallace, George Johnson, Herman Boatright, Lonnie Lamkin, Lynn McCormack, Fred Wilmoth and Miss Jeanette James.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Applegate Entertain for Christmas Dinner

Guests for Christmas dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Applegate, 200 West Park street, Harrisburg, on Christmas day were their son and family, Dr. and Mrs. Don E. Applegate and daughter, Susan, from Richmond, Ind., who visited in the home for about a week during the Christmas holiday; their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Applegate, Carbondale, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Patterson, Kankakee, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Vancil, Carbondale, and Mr. and Mrs. Rufe Wells, Harrisburg.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Schwartz, 616 West Parish street, Harrisburg, visited Mr. and Mrs. Mike Banovich, uncle and aunt of her fiancé, Ed Chase, in Chicago through Christmas. She went to Chicago Dec. 21 and returned Saturday. Mr. Chase, who accompanied her to her parents' home in Harrisburg, returned to Chicago Monday, where he is employed by the Bell Telephone company.

Rev. Rowland L. Westervelt and his family will leave Shawneetown Thursday, January 2 after a pastorate of 8 1-2 years at the Presbyterian Church here, and some six years at the Ringgold Presbyterian Church. Rev. Westervelt also served the Saline Mines Church for 4 1-2 years and was Director of the Egyptian Larger Parish since September of 1953.

Mr. Westervelt first came to this area as a summer student worker in the Egyptian Larger Parish in the summer of 1948, when he conducted five vacation Bible Schools in Presbyterian churches, including Shawneetown, Ringgold and Saline Mines. Completing his final year at the Biblical Seminary in New York in May, 1949, he accepted the call to the Shawneetown and Saline Mines churches, and arrived in Shawneetown on July 7, 1949. Mrs. Westervelt, the former Norma Abbott of Hammond, Ind., was also a student at the Biblical Seminary, and she and Mr. Westervelt were united in marriage in January 1949, in the Seminary chapel.

Interested in rural church work, Mr. Westervelt was instrumental in getting the Lord's Acre plan at work in both the Ringgold and the Saline Mines Churches. In 1955, along with ten other Presbyterian pastors in Illinois, he was awarded

Editorial — By PHIL PASTORET

The monumental headaches to which many celebrants will awake
on New Year's Day are as nothing
to the various migraines mankind
will be subject to in the year ahead.
The New Year's Eve—or hoopla-
type headache—yields to one of many remedies washed down with great quantities of black coffee.

Would that the greater headaches of personal, national and international life could be mitigated
by such simple remedies.

In the frantic fumbblings in our mental drugstore for an effective cure, we have left untouched the one thing which can relieve our ages-old headaches.

And that is the meaning of the year—this year or any year.

The years past have been un-stoppered — their essences have evaporated. But this year now ready to our hands has yet to add
its elixirs to the swirling ferment of history.

Its label reads: "Anno Domini 1958"—The Year of Our Lord 1958.
It is the one thousand, nine hundred and fifty-eighth chance which
the Almighty has given mankind
to straighten out its affairs, as we reckon time in the Christian world.

We just might try to live in the Christian spirit during this new,
unsullied Year of Our Lord. It might help us to solve our man-ifold problems. It couldn't do any harm.

We've tried every other remedy
on the shelf.

To Consolidate Two Military Districts

ST. LOUIS (CP) — The military

will be consolidated under the 11th
U. S. Army Corps (reserve) on
Jan. 1, 1958, Col. David B. Stone, chief of the Missouri district, announced today.

Headquarters will be in St. Louis
under the command of Maj. Gen.
Charles D. W. Canham, who will assume his duties in late February. The new corps will maintain an office at Chicago to be known as headquarters, northern Illinois sector. Col. John L. Wilkin, now chief of staff of the Illinois district, will be in charge.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
American Bombers Wait In Morocco On 24-Hour Alert; They Carry Hydrogen Bombs With Deadlier Power Than All Explosives Fired In World War II; Bombers Commute Between Morocco And Louisiana.

SIDI SLIMANE, Morocco.—On the runway at this air base are two dozen sleek, speedy, wind-swept B-47s, each loaded with a hydrogen bomb. They are poised and ready to take off. Destination: Moscow. Flying at a speed of 600 miles an hour, Moscow is just four hours away.

I climbed up in the cockpit of the lead B-47. Only a few feet away was the hydrogen bomb, containing more explosive power than all the bombs, artillery shells, and other fire-power detonated in all of World War II!

Every minute of the day one or more of these bombs is in the air—ready for eventualities. Every minute of the day and night these B-47s are lined up on the runways of Morocco ready to strike.

One month ago I wouldn't have been able to write about this. One month ago, the entire operation at Sidi Slimane was top secret. But in November, Gen. Tom Power, chief of the Strategic Air Command, announced in Paris that since October 1, the Air Force had giant bombers, loaded with hydrogen bombs, on a 24-hour alert, ready in 15 minutes to take off toward enemy targets in case of war.

He was referring to Sidi Slimane.

Sidi Slimane is an 8,000-acre oasis between Rabat and the foothills of the Atlas mountains, where B-47 bombing crews go about their business as if nothing was happening, but with one ear always listening for the klaxon alarm which would send them speeding toward "the target."

There are 38 klaxons on the base. There are three men in each B-47 crew. Each crew has a jeep. They must stick together with that jeep ready to rush to their plane. If one man goes to the barbershop, the other two must go with him, while the jeep stands by. If one goes to call on his girl friend, the other two must go with him. They must be ready night and day for the sound of one of those klaxons.

Once every 16 days, the crew flies its B-47 back to Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La. It's a long hop to Barksdale—about one-third of the way around the world—but these planes commute. They make the hop in eight to ten hours, fueling in the air en route, because the Air Force has found it practical to do maintenance work at the home base in the United States rather than at an advanced base in Morocco; also because long hops across the Atlantic give the pilot practice in the kind of flying he has to do in time of war.

An armed Air Police stands beside each B-47 on the runway at Sidi Slimane, and even the base commander, Col. John Kunkel of Indianapolis, had to show his identification before the guard would let him and me crawl up into the cramped cockpit of the giant bomber.

Bombers of the past were built so the crew could sleep or walk around inside. They were a dozen members in the crew. But in this messenger of destruction there are only three. They can't walk. They can crawl a few feet, put one leg down from the pilot's seat. But they can't even get down from their seats to go to the bathroom. Besides, there isn't any bathroom. They are strapped in until they get to Moscow, Shreveport, or their destination.

The rest of the plane is one solid series of gasoline tanks—plus the hydrogen bomb.

ONE-THIRD OF BOMBERS

When General Power revealed that one-third of SAC's 2,000 bombers were on a 24-hour alert loaded with H-bombs, it was not a flub. His revelation was intentional—first, because the Russians by then knew all about Sidi Slimane; second, because he wanted to reassure our allies, following the panic news that Russia had the ICBM (intercontinental missile) and several thousand intermediate range missiles.

Unlike our big Wheelus Air Base at Tripoli, Sidi Slimane is 2,000 miles from the iron curtain and out of range of the Russian intermediate 800-mile missile. So are our other bases in Morocco and Spain. They will not be out of range of the 5,000-mile ICBM when Russia perfects it, and they are not out of range today of in-

derwater missiles launched from Russian submarines.

DULLES'S WEAKNESS

In Washington, D. C., John Foster Dulles talks about negotiating from strength. He doesn't want to hold any discussions with Russia until the U. S. A. can hoist a Sputnik in the air or establish missile bases in West Europe when he can then talk from a position of strength.

Most people have forgotten it, but the bases in Sidi Slimane and the rest of North Africa were established during the Korean war when President Truman feared that his "police action" might develop into a world war. These bases gave us the ability at that time to negotiate from strength. Perhaps they prevented World War III.

Later President Eisenhower accepted a peace in Korea. It was hailed in the U. S. as a great victory, but actually it was a humiliating compromise. It permitted Communist troops to transfer from Korea to Indo-China, following which most of that area was lost to the free world.

Meanwhile, top scientists were purged from government. Appropriations were cut. Scientific experimentation was derided by Charlie Wilson—while Russia forged ahead.

So today John Foster Dulles finds himself negotiating from weakness. His chief remaining strength is from these sleek, windswept B-47s lined up on the runways of Sidi Slimane and from other bombers poised or in the air night and day, ready to retaliate.

The great danger is, however, that something might go wrong on one of these bombers. Somebody might give the wrong signal. Mechanism might go out of whack. The pilot might have to bail out. The bomb-bay door might come loose. In this case, as much explosive hydrogen as was unleashed in all of World War II would come hurtling to earth. On such human and mechanical frailties rests the peace of this weary world as the year 1957 comes to a close.

Saline county residents purchased a total of $120,543, in Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in November, according to a report received from the Savings Bonds Division of the United States Treasury Department by Volunteer Savings Bonds County Chairman Harley H. Shepherd of Harrisburg. Purchases of E and H Bonds in the state of Illinois, according to T. Merle Paul, State Director of the United States Savings Bonds Division for Illinois, in November this year were $29,119,711 or 7.1 per cent less than November last year.

In November, Illinois sales represented 8.7 per cent to total sales in the nation which were $334,000,000. In the first eleven months, sales in the state have reached 85.8 per cent of Illinois' annual quota for 1957 which is $444,000,000.

Babson's Business and Financial Forecast for '58

sions, and other "fringes."
10. European countries will have less to spend for American goods, and foreign trade will decline in 1958 compared with 1957.

Money Outlook
11. Money will continue to be
"tight" during 1958 for new borrowers who have not established a satisfactory line of credit.

12. Owing to declining demands for funds, interest rates will decline in 1958.

13. Concerns with large numbers of employees will receive first consideration both by banks
and by the government.

14. For fear of World War III,
and due to declining business,
many plans for expansion of plants
will be postponed.

15. Money rates may be "fixed" during 1958 by an economic dictator.

16. Lower money rates will make it easier to sell long-term
bonds during 1958.

17. The supply of non-taxable state, municipal, turnpike and other "Authority" bonds will increase during 1958.

18. Forecast higher prices for many corporation bonds.

19. Investors will continue, during 1958, to switch from stocks to attractive bond issues; fear of war
will rule all markets.

20. Bankers will fear that the government—as a part of the cold war—will appoint a dictator to direct the policies of all national banks, the leading stock exchanges, and investment dealers.

Labor Outlook
21. There will be a general fear that the government—as a part of the cold war—will fix
wages in many industries and prevent further increases during 1958.

22. The revelations brought about by the investigation of the Teamsters Union may lead to important new labor legislation.

23. The Taft-Hartley Law will not be repealed in 1958, and may be made more severe. Much,
however, will depend upon President Eisenhower's physical and mental condition.

24. Congressional attempt will be made to eliminate the present
exemption of labor unions from anti-monopoly laws.

25. 1958 will be a sad year for labor leaders. I forecast that there will be an increase of unemployment during 1958.

26. I forecast that with the possible exception of the auto industry, there will be no national strikes during 1958.

27. I forecast that automation will slowly increase during 1958.

28. If wages should be fixed
as a part of the cold-war program,
retail prices will also be fixed.

29. All workers, especially office workers, will be more efficient in 1958. It will be more difficult for the next group of college graduates to get good positions at high wages.

30. For the past few years labor has been sitting in the driver's seat. Many industrialists and political leaders have feared that the country is headed for a socialist or labor government. A cheerful sign now is that such fears may,
temporarily at least, be forgotten.
The American working man is himself becoming disgusted with too powerful labor leaders. This should be good news to all honest
employers.

Outlook for Real Estate
31. Land adjoining cities and towns will increase in value during 1958. This especially applies to small farms.

32. Large commercial farms will continue to prosper during 1958, but the small farmer will continue to suffer if dependent on farming.

33. Under an economic dictator, farmers would receive no increased price supports. If farm prices are fixed, they will be at lower levels.

34. Large cities may continue to lose in population. Large city real estate will sell for less, for fear of Russian missiles.

35. The growth of suburbs will continue, although many houses
now occupied by well-paid executives will be forced on the market as their owners lose their present high-salaried positions.

36. Construction activity in many communities will decline.
Older houses, will come on the market.

37. In many sections of the country there will be a greater demand for co-operative modern apartments than for single houses,
although old apartment houses
will sell for less. More young people and old people will insist upon every modern convenience
and upon locations not absolutely
dependent on automobiles. 153-7

Kentucky Wesleyan Downs SIU, 61-59, in All-American Tourney

OWENSBORO, Ky., (AP)—Host Kentucky Wesleyan College will be shooting to defend its All-American City basketball tournament title against Ohio University tonight, after downing Southern Illinois University, 61-59, in the opening round.

Ohio University defeated Washington and Lee, 65-64, after holding on to a 1-point lead through the final three minutes of play.

Washington and Lee's hard-fighting Generals tied the score five times and eliminated a 10-point first half Ohio U. lead before going down by 1 point. General Dom Flora was high for both squad with 20 points.

The Wesleyan Panthers lasted out a late rally by Southern Illinois, although they shot a cold 31 per cent from the floor. Wesleyan's Kelly Coleman took high point honors with 20 points. He also had 19 rebounds.

Southern Illinois and Washington and Lee meet in a consolation game before tonight's final round.

Kansas Beats Kansas State to Win Big 8 Meet

By United Press
Wilt Chamberlain and his Kansas cohorts provided fresh evidence today that they're both very good and very lucky.

The nation's top player and No.
1 team passed their biggest test
of the season so far when they beat second-ranked Kansas State,
79-65, Monday night to win the Big Eight tournament at Kansas
City, Mo.

Chamberlain enjoyed one of his best nights of the current campaign with 38 points and a backboard - dominating 18 rebounds.
His 106 points for three games
set a tournament record and Kansas' victory marked the first time any team won the Big Eight tourney two straight years.

It was the 10th straight triumph for unbeaten Kansas and the first loss in 10 games for Kansas State. Iowa State won third place with a 61-51 victory over Nebraska. Oklahoma beat Missouri, 80-69, for fifth place and Colorado defeated Princeton, 80-64, for seventh place.

Temple, ranked No. 10, won the Holiday Festival at New York and Iowa won the Queen City tourney at Buffalo, N. Y., but

Anna Man New SII President

HERRIN, Ill. (AP)—Jack Lewis, Anna, is the new president of Southern Illinois Inc., an area development and planning group.

Lewis was chosen head of SII at a meeting here Monday. He will assume office next month, succeeding R. A. Bonfield, West Frankfort.

Lewis Nielsen, Murphysboro, was elected secretary. Treasurer J. W. Hayton, Carverville, and Board Chairman J. V. Walker, Herrin, were re-elected.

New directors are Dr. M. V. Brown, Carbondale, and A. R. Cairns, Sparta. Eight other directors were re-elected.

Boy, 11, Killed By Live Grenade

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Eleven-year-old Donald Kruger played soldier with a live hand grenade Monday. It blew off his hands and killed him.

Donald's mother said he found it in their closet, apparently left by one of the soldiers from Fort Carson, Colo., who had previously lived in the house.

"I hope that soldier has this on his conscience as long as he lives," she said. "I know I will."

The three other boys in the family, who watched Donald pull the pin on the grenade, backed off in fear and escaped serious injuries.

It exploded close to his chest, blew off his hands and drove metal fragments into his chest and stomach.

Donald tottered into the house screaming:

"Mommy, I'm dead! I'm dead!"

The boy collapsed, and he died 45 minutes later under surgery.

The previous night, the boys showed the grenade to Victor Jech, Donald's stepfather, who said he didn't know what it was. Police said Jech, a window cleaner, threw the grenade under a bed, not thinking it was dangerous.

Moscow Reports Progress in Harnessing H-Bomb

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio claimed today that Russia made "the first substantial progress" toward harnessing the H-bomb reaction for peaceful use during 1957.

The claim was made in a year-end broadcast on 1957's achievements by Alexander Terpigorev of the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

"The Soviet physicists, for the first time in the world," he said, "obtained a temperature of over one million degrees."

"They observed under laboratory conditions the phenomena taking place during the explosion of an H-bomb."

"This is the first substantial progress in work aimed at obtaining a controlled thermonuclear reaction."

His broadcast, which was beamed at France, gave no further details of Soviet work on the controlled H-bomb.

Mears Brothers Murder Trial Set In Gallatin County

Three New Haven brothers, charged with the shotgun murder of Vincent York on July 19, are scheduled to be tried for murder in Gallatin County Circuit Court at a jury session which opens Monday with Judge Roy Gulley of Benton presiding.

The trio, Donald Ray Mears and his brothers, Hallas and Robert Mears, were indicted by a special Gallatin County grand jury in September. Hallas and Robert are each out on $20,000 bail and Donald has posted $75,000 bond.

Evidence presented at an inquest held in the death of the 74-year-old man pointed to Ray as the one who fired the shotgun that resulted in his death. He was reportedly sitting on the porch at his home peeling potatoes around 5:00 p. m. when the fatal shot struck him in the chest, shoulder and eye. He died in an ambulance enroute to a hospital, according to the testimony.

The law firm of Rumsey and Dennis of Harrisburg is counsel for the defendants. Attorneys Fletcher Lewis of Murphysboro and Joe Hale of Ridgway are assisting States Attorney Alton Greer in the prosecution.

Mrs. Thomas Abell Dies Near Eldorado

Mrs. Katie Abell, 81, widow of Thomas Abell, died at 3:15 a. m. today in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elisha Craig, north of Eldorado. The body is in the care of the Eldorado funeral home and funeral plans have not been completed.

Grand Jury Blasts Lawyers in Cook County Probe

CHICAGO (AP)—The Cook County grand jury wound up its probe of the county treasurer's office with a blast at lawyers involved in the investigation, the county administration and groups describing themselves as "tax consultants."

A four-page report was delivered Monday to Chief Justice Harold P. O'Connell of Criminal Court, 90 days after the probe began.

The Chicago Bar Assn. was asked to make "an extensive investigation into the professional conduct of certain members of the bar involved in the investigation."

The grand jury said some of the lawyers invoked "the doctrine of privileged communication between lawyer and client" in order to bypass questioning.

Others "flatly refused to testify on grounds of possible self-incrimination," the report said.

E. Douglas Schwantes, president of the Association, said the bar could only "stand by until we get more definite information."

The county treasurer's office was criticized for failure to do no more than stop the fraudulent practices once they were discovered.

Southern Illinois Retail Trade Over Billion Yearly

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Annual retail sales in the southern 31 counties of Illinois are now over the $1 billion mark, the current issue of the Southern Illinois Business Bulletin reports.

Sales of $1,029,019,000 last year were 12 percent above the figure for 1954, according to an article by Charles Rosenbarger, instructor in business administration at Southern Illinois University.

The greatest percentage gain in the two-year period was registered by Edwards county (43.1 percent), and Lawrence county was second (35.8 percent). Retail sales declined in seven counties.

Rosenbarger says Southern Illinois retailers are getting a greater share of increases in consumer incomes than is true of Illinois and U. S. retailers generally. Last year, area residents spent an estimated 66.5 percent of their after-tax incomes in local stores.

The pattern of retail sales in Southern Illinois is characterized by cross-currents, the article states. For example, Edwards county retailers rang up sales equal to 100 percent of resident after-tax incomes last year while retailers in adjoining Wayne county were getting only 50 percent.

Peabody's Pana Mine Is Closed

PANA, Ill. (AP)—The big Peabody Coal Co. mine No. 17 was closed today with an official notice posted on the mine bulletin board.

The notice said the mine would cease operations with the ending of the last shift Dec. 30. The mine employed about 500 persons.

W. R. Wootton, 82, Former Resident of Corinth Township, Dies

W. R. Wootton, 82, 409 South Spillman street, Marion, died Monday morning. The body will lie in state at the Courtney funeral home in Galatia and the funeral will be held there at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Rev. Bill Reeves, pastor of the Johnston City First Christian church will officiate and burial will be in the Rose Hill cemetery at Marion.

Mr. Wootton is survived by his sons, Trevor Wootton and Cecil Wootton of Johnston City, and Harold Wootton, Peoria, and his daughter, Mrs. Velma D. Absher, Palatine. He was formerly a resident of Corinth township near the Saline county line in Williamson county.

Pinckneyville Farmer Is Killed by Truck

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—William Edward Pabst, 56, Pinckneyville farmer, was killed late Monday when he was struck by a truck while walking along a black-top road northeast of here.

State police said the truck driver, William F. Cason, also of Pinckneyville, told them another car was approaching and he did not see Pabst.

Mt. Pleasant Church Usher Board Meets

The usher board of the Mt. Pleasant Baptist church met in the dining room of the church Monday evening. Mrs. Nellie Adams was the hostess at the meeting. The group sang hymns and the devotion was taken from St. John Martin Anderson led in prayer.

During the social hour ice cream, cookies and coffee were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Rawlings, Mrs. Willie Canterbury, Mrs. Willie Love, Mrs. Estelle Barnhill and Mrs. Adams.

Eisenhower to Offer Budget With Surplus

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—The White House said today that President Eisenhower plans to submit to Congress a 1959 budget which will be higher than this year, but balanced and with "a slight surplus."

The announcement followed a conference of two hours and 15 minutes between the President, Budget Director Percival Brundage, Deputy Budget Director Maurice Stans and Dr. James R. Killian, scientific adviser to the President. Killian also had a separate meeting with Eisenhower.

Administration officials said the budget undoubtedly would be above this year's 72 billion dollars, the increase due largely to increased defense spending for the space era.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he did not expect taxes would have to be raised to keep the higher budget in balance.

"But there'll be no tax reductions," he said with a touch of grimness.

Science Advisor For Each Cabinet Member Urged

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science said today each member of President Eisenhower's Cabinet should have a science advisor to keep pace with the technical age.

"I think it's quite necessary that some intimate knowledge of science be available in each executive department," said Dr. Laurence H. Snyder of the University of Oklahoma.

Snyder said he was certain Congress will be asked to put the plan in effect when about 500 of the nation's scientists meet in Washington next year to review "hundreds of proposals" for boosting this country in its technical race with Russia.

Snyder said he would resist any proposal for a new Cabinet post of secretary of science because "I don't think science ought to be compartmentalized that way."

He said the most urgent need was to send financial aid to the nation's universities.

"I think that if Congress would supply money to the universities with no strings attached they could find the best way to train scientists and improve science," he said.

State Sues Epping And Accountant

It also named the firm.

The suit charged that at the same time Epping was a "partner" in the firm he was "appointed" by Auditor Hodge, or in the alternative, assumed the appointment, as office manager, and-or administrative assistant in the office of the auditor . . . and in this capacity he assumed, performed and exercised the duties and functions of an employee of the state of Illinois.

Epping was ousted as a partner in the Mersinger firm before he pleaded guilty to conspiracy in the Hodge scandal and was sent to prison.

The suit charged that Epping, at the same time he was, in effect, a state employee, was receiving state funds through his partnership in the accounting firm.

Hodge contracted with the Mersinger firm to perform audits required as part of the state auditor's duties.

Mrs. Alfred Capehart Of Junction Dies

Mrs. Ida M. Capehart, 70 wife of Alfred Capehart, resident of Junction and formerly of Harrisburg, died in the Lightner hospital Monday. The body is in the care of the Cox funeral home in Ridgway and at 10 a. m. Wednesday will be taken to the family home in Junction to lie in state.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday in the Dorrisville Social Brethren church. Rev. L. L. Gullett will officiate and burial will be in the Sunset Lawn cemetery.

Store Operator at Hicks Branch Held Up

"Doc" Hicks, operator of a store at Hicks Branch in Hardin county, was held up by two men as he opened his store this morning. It was learned there were no further details available. An investigation was being made today.

Ben Gurion Quits; to Form New Cabinet

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion submitted his resignation today and was immediately asked to form a new cabinet.

Ben-Gurion had been so confident President Itzhak Ben Zvi would ask him to continue as premier he already had started holding political consultations on the makeup of the new government.

He resigned today in a political move to drive two rebellious left wing parties out of his government.

Ben Gurion was unable under the constitution to dismiss the Ahdut Avoda (unity of labor) and the Mapam (united workers) ministers so he decided to submit the resignation of the entire cabinet.

President Itzhak Ben Zvi would then ask him to form another government and he could do so without calling on the two rebellious parties. He would be named premier again because his own Mapai (Israel labor) party is by far the largest in the Knesset (parliament).

The outgoing cabinet is Ben-Gurion's 15th. It lasted for two years and 56 days, the longest in the history of the young state of Israel.

There was a possibility Ben Gurion would form only a caretaker cabinet since general elections are due in 1959 and are generally expected to be moved up to the summer of 1958. The elections would give Ben Gurion an opportunity to increase his parliamentary majority.

J. Chester Borah, 75, State Official, Dies

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—J. Chester Borah, 75, Agriculture Department superintendent of plant industry, died late Monday at St. John's hospital.

Borah had been ill for some time. Formerly of Fairfield, he had lived in Springfield about five years.

He recently was elected president of the National Seed Analysts and Inspectors in absentia. Borah was ill at the time of the national group's meeting and could not attend.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at Fairfield.

Seize Carpenter On Murder and Kidnap Charges

MIAMI (AP)—Wayne Carpenter, 21, wanted on murder and kidnapping charges in Washington, was picked up as a vagrant Monday night in West Palm Beach.

The partner-in-crime of Henry Clay Overton, 44, who was killed Sunday in a flaming head-on collision in Georgia while trying to escape police, meekly identified himself after his arrest.

Carpenter and Overton, according to police, became angry about a bar bill in Washington, D. C., last Friday and shot and killed the tavern owner and a singer and wounded a blind pianist.

The kidnapping charge is in connection with the pair's alleged seizure of a young soldier and a girl and use of their car to flee Washington, taking the couple across a state line. The other count is unlawful flight to escape prosecution for the felony of murder.

increase his parliamentary majority.

Circulate Primary Petitions in Gallatin County

With the primary elections still more than three months away petitions for several candidates for county offices in Gallatin county are being circulated, according to reports.

Petitions for three incumbents—County Clerk Yules Wren, County Judge Joe Hale and County Superintendent of Schools Horace Brown—are in circulation. Wren of Shawneetown and Hale of Ridgway are Republicans. Brown is a Democrat from Ridgway.

Other petitions include four for sheriff—Republicans Jim Fox of Shawneetown and Jewell Sisk of Equality and Democrats Bailey Miller of Equality and Zack Woods of Junction.

Petitions are also being circulated for Bern rd Scherrer, Shawnee town Democrat, for treasurer.

Young Woman Dies in Plunge

CHICAGO (AP)—A young woman died in a fall through a stairwell into the lobby of International House, dormitory on the University of Chicago campus, early today.

Her features were mangled and police and school authorities said identification was difficult. Director H. T. Fultz of International House said permanent residents at the dormitory did not seem to know her and it was possible she was a transient guest.

John Collins, 67, night clerk said he heard the woman fall about 5 a. m. She was clad in a green nightdress and slippers.

She was believed to have plunged from the sixth or seventh floor.

Wilson Says He Was Overruled on Military Budget

DETROIT (AP)—Former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said today President Eisenhower overruled his request for a "considerable" increase in military spending a year ago and chopped it down before submitting the budget to Congress.

At the same time Wilson hung the label "Monday morning quarterback" on critics who claim the United States was caught napping in the missile race with Russia.

Wilson, 67, who stepped down from the Defense Department post late this year, said Eisenhower trimmed his budget request before submitting it to Congress because he believed the economy-minded congressmen would not go along with it.

"His prediction was right, too, because they cut the budget from $8.5 billion dollars down to $6.5 billion before they were through," Wilson said.

He declined to say what his estimate of the needs for defense spending were before the President cut it, but he said "it was closer to 40 billion dollars than it was to $8.5."

The President said "he didn't know where to get the $38,500,000,000 and he didn't," Wilson said. He added that he accepted the President's judgment because "logically, I'm a team player in a big organization and when it comes to the last five per cent one way or the other, I figure it's up to the President."

CARRIER MILLS
New Year's Day Only
Cont. from 2 p. m.

Looking at Sports

BY BILL MELTON

Rosiclar coach Bill Piland has been on crutches for three weeks and may be for a long time to come. Talked with him briefly during the first night of the Carrier Mills tourney and he stated he didn't know when he would be able to throw the crutches away. Early this month during a basketball practice session Piland was running through some plays with his team when one of the players crashed into his coach, striking him a hard blow on the right thigh with a knee. A rupture resulted and there is internal bleeding. Piland stated. Rest was recommended and the trip to Carrier Mills was Piland's first with the team since the accident. He wasn't back for the final night and the team was directed by J. R. Martin, Rosiclar principal.

The basketball picture can change in a hurry. In the opening game of the Carrier Mills tourney Metropolis went through the entire second quarter against Rosiclar without being called for a foul. Then in the opening 20 seconds of the third quarter Metropolis was whistled twice. And on the subject of fouls, saw two unusual calls, both against Johnston City, during the CM tourney. An old rule was dusted off during the JC-CM game on opening night. With an Indian at the free throw line and apparently in no hurry to shoot one of the officials suddenly yelled "You have taken too much time," grabbed the ball and gave it to Carrier Mills out of bounds. Conversation later with the official revealed there is a rule allowing only 10 seconds for a free throw.

The official stated it was a very unusual call and I talked with many fans and only one remembered ever seeing it called before and "it was a long time ago." Many times I have seen players take a lot of time, apparently from being nervous. They would bounce the ball, aim at the basket, then bounce the ball some more, lay it down and wipe their hands, bounce the ball, aim at the basket and finally shoot.

Guess the officials overlook all this nervous action. But Thursday night the player was just standing at the free throw line looking around and talking. "Unnecessary delay of the game," ruled the official. And in the consolation game against Rosiclar a JC player got real close to an opponent and put his hands in front of his face, then moved his hands up-and-down real fast in front of the Rosiclar player's eyes. A technical foul was called.

Al Gunzel, former Shawneetown high school cage ace now a sophomore at Tulane, and Howard Dodds, former West Frankfort standout, were opponents Saturday in the All-College Basketball Tournament at Oklahoma City. Dodds' Western Kentucky team beat Tulane 78-72. Dodds failed to score, but Gunzel hit for one basket. Bill Hollada, SIU athletic publicist, was through Harrisburg Saturday and left a copy of the SIU winter sports schedule while chatting for a few minutes at The Register. SIU hosts Illinois Wesleyan Saturday night. All home varsity games start at 8:15 p. m. SIU also has an attractive wrestling, swimming and gymnastics schedule.

Expect 380,000 Fans to Attend Seven New Year's Day Football Bowl Games

By United Press

The 1957 college football season draws to a close tomorrow but not until approximately 380,000 in-person fans have had a last chance to root for their heroes in seven New Year's Day Bowl games.

A vast "unseen" audience also will take in the action via TV and radio in a continuous barrage which begins around 1:30 p. m. e.s.t. and rolls on for about six hours.

Ohio State, voted the nation's No. 1 team by the United Press board of coaches, meets Oregon in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.; the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, Tex., offers Navy vs. Rice; Mississippi tangles with Texas in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans and Oklahoma meets Duke in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., in the major games.

In the minor bowl games Drake meets Louisville in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., Mississippi Southern plays East Texas State in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., and Texas Southern meets Prairie View in the Prairie View Bowl at Houston, Tex.

A crowd of 100,000 is anticipated for the Rose Bowl with Ohio State, winner of eight in a row after dropping its opening game, favored by 20 points over Pacific Coast Conference champion Oregon. With the PCC torn by withdrawals, Tuesday's game may mark the last between the Big Ten and PCC in a series which has seen the Midwestern schools win 10 of the 11 games played.

The Navy-Rice game features a pair of excellent quarterbacks in Tom Forrestal and King Hill. Forrestal heads a Navy team which has good balance in all departments, plus its confusing "jitterbug" defensive alignment. Hill is as resourceful as Forrestal and has a favorite passing target in end Buddy Dial, the nation's leading pass receiver. Navy (8-1-1) is picked by one point with a crowd of 82,000 expected. Both coaches are looking for a break in the Mississippi-Texas game. Ole Miss (8-1-1) never has lost to a Southwest Conference team in a bowl game and is picked by 2-1-2 points. The Longhorns, who wound up second to Rice in the Southwest Conference, had an overall record of 6-3-1 and boast a pair of fine signal callers in Fondren and Bobby Laakey. The crowd is expected to top 80,000.

Oklahoma, a one-time loser this season, is picked by 10 over Duke. The Sooners may have to play without No. 1 quarterback Carl Dodd and No. 2 tackle Jerry Thompson, but they still have more guns than Duke can silence. However, the Blue Devils, who had a 6-2-2 record including a tie with Navy, are near peak condition and the game could wind up real close. A sellout crowd of 75,000 is expected.

The Sun Bowl game is anticipating a crowd of 15,000, the Prairie View 20,000 and the Tangerine 13,000 for a night game to round out the day's activity.

Every part of the mainland of the United States is subject to frosts.

POUNDING TOWARD THE finish line, Iron Liege (on rail) and Gallant Man battle it out in 83rd running of the Kentucky Derby at Louisville's Churchill Downs. Iron Liege, with Willie Hartack aboard, hung on to win by a nose.

←LAST DAY AT the Polo Grounds found New York Giants racing off field with eager fans in pursuit. After years of speculation major league baseball moved to the West Coast. The Giants will play in San Francisco in 1958. The Brooklyn Dodgers will set up shop in Los Angeles.

SWEAT AND LEW BURDETTE was story of Milwaukee's pulsating World Series triumph over the New York Yankees. Burdette, above, a 30-year-old righthander, was the first pitcher in 37 years to win three starting assignments in the World Series. He stopped the vaunted Yanks, 4-2, 1-0, 5-0.

←UNHERALDED DICK MAYER, of St. Petersburg, Fla., became new ruler of the country's golfers. Tied with Dr. Cary Middlecoff at the end of the regulation four rounds in the U.S. Open in Toledo, Ohio, Mayer (right, in photo) won the playoff going away, shooting a 72 to Middlecoff's 79.

PAYOFF PUNCH, and probably hardest punch of the year, is landed by Sugar Ray Robinson on the chin of Gene Fullmer in fifth round of their second bout. Busy Robinson lost the title to Fullmer in January, won it back from Fullmer in May, then lost it to Carmen Bassilio in a bruising September battle.

TWO MONTHS AFTER Boston offered a million dollars for him, Cleveland's Herb Score was hit in eye by liner off bat of Gil MacDougald. Score says he'll return to pitching mound in 1958.

←UPSET OF THE YEAR came when Dick Lynch romped across Oklahoma's goal line for the only score in Notre Dame's 7-0 victory over odds-on favorite Sooners. Irish victory ended Oklahoma's 47-game winning streak.

There was nothing I could do now until I'd talked to Sandra, who was married to two men, Duke Calvin and Wayne Howell. I knew that Hugo Howell would be overjoyed at the news. It meant that Wayne's marriage to Sandra was not legal, and unless he married again within the next month, before his 25th birthday, half of the trust fund would go automatically to Hugo, which was what Hugo had wanted in the first place. I felt a little joyous, too, because my client would now be able to pay the agency's fee.

I doubted that Wayne would meet and marry another woman in a month's time, even if he recovered from a broken heart that quickly. I felt sorry for Wayne, but not too sorry; I was convinced that he'd be much happier without Sandra, no matter what tender passion he felt for her now. And I decided definitely that I would not give Hugo the good news until after I'd pulled the rug out from under Sandra. I had no doubt that Hugo would soon run through his share of the trust money, but I didn't worry about it. I'd done the job for which I'd been originally hired, and I'd done it without resorting to unethical procedures. I felt a little smug about the whole thing.

I didn't worry too much about the safety of Hugo Howell. He was down the hall in his room behind a locked door, sleeping. I hoped. I was certain that he was too frightened to venture out. If he did go out, after I'd warned him not to, it was his neck. I had disliked the man, but my opinion of him had undergone a subtle change in the last hour. Perhaps the news that he had contributed to charities had softened my feelings toward him, that and the revealing flicker of intelligence I'd seen in his eyes. I told myself not to sell Hugo short. I still did not exactly like him, but I'd acquired a little respect for him as a human being.

I doubted that Ambrose Lott's killer was still lurking about, at least not in the daytime. But one thing prodded the back of my brain and it was definitely a jarring note; I couldn't forget the blow on my head and my frantic fear in the water when I was certain I was about to drown. Maybe Ambrose Lott had done it, in revenge for his friend and former employer. But Lott was dead now, and beyond all reproach. Maybe it had been a sneak thug, a nameless stranger, intent upon robbery, and then frightened away at Wayne Howell's fortunate approach.

Who wanted Hugo dead? The same person who had attacked me, maybe watching in the Harbor House bar, seeing that Hugo was drunk and apparently well-heeled?

I walked to the police station. When I arrived there I remembered that Chief Campbell had been on duty all night and would probably now be home sleeping. Gus, the young policeman, was behind the desk. I asked if any information had come in from the Detroit police. He said, "Yes, early this morning."

"Mind telling me what it is?" "Not at all. The chief said to tell you if you asked." Then he gave me practically the same information on Ambrose Lott and Hugo Howell that I'd gotten from Lew Hancock, and mentioned that Howell was on the books in Detroit for only the one "drunken driving charge."

Gus said, "Since this Lott doesn't have any relatives, I suppose the county will have to bury him here."

"Howell said he'd take care of the funeral," I told him. "Tell the chief to see him about it." I did not mention the information I'd received on Sandra Osterman Calvin Howell, but decided to tell it to Campbell when I saw him, as a matter of policy. He wasn't as interested in Sandra as I was, and I could see no connection between Sandra and Ambrose Lott's death, but it never hurt to show all your cards to the layman when it appeared advisable.

I asked Gus to tell Campbell that I would see him later in the day. Gus replied that the chief would be at the station early in the evening, to take over the night desk trick. I returned to the Harbor House. It was only 11 o'clock, too early for lunch. I decided to check on my client.

There was no response to my knock on his door. I tried the knob. The door was still locked. I knocked again loudly. Still no sound from within. I called his name and rattled the knob. Nothing. I got worried and decided to go down to the desk and get a key. Then a voice spoke behind me. "Hi, Robert!"

I turned and gazed at Hugo How-a thick thumb and forefinger an inch apart and grinned at me. "Then I took a walk. You got any more news for me?" I was tempted to tell him about Sandra, but decided to stick to my resolution to wait until I'd talked to her. "Not yet," I said. "I should have something by tonight."

"All right," he said. "We got the afternoon to kill. Let's you and me go fishing." (To Be Continued)

Three Bound Over To Grand Jury for Burglary, Larceny

Ripley should be told about two burglary and larceny charges that are to be considered by the next Gallatin County grand jury.

According to one complaint, on November 14 Willard Parkison of Hardin County entered the machine shed of Edgar McDaniel in North Fork Township and allegedly took a truck and one lot of wrenches, all of which are valued at $260.

Another complaint, signed by the defendant Parkison, alleges that Edgar Feazel and Buddy Sork, both of Ridgway, on the same date took from Parkison a truck and one lot of wrenches valued at $260 and the property of Edgar McDaniel.

All three have been arraigned to the court of W. S. Sanders, Shawneetown justice of the peace, where they were bound over to the grand jury after waiving preliminary hearings. Bond was fixed at $1,000 each.

Willard Parkison also faces an assault to murder charge stemming from an incident that occurred on the same date. He allegedly beat one George Thompson of Ridgway with an iron bar with intent to kill. He also has been bound on this charge is also $1,000, bound over to the grand jury. His

Gallatin County Popular Place for Marriage Licenses

Gallatin county continues to be a mighty popular place to get marriage licenses.

County Clerk Yules Wren reports that his office issued 1,540 marriage licenses during the past fiscal year. And at $3 each that meant fees from marriage licenses of $4,620 were received by the county clerk's office.

Almost 4,000 marriage licenses have been issued during the three years Wren has been in office. During his first year more than 1,000 licenses were written, the number jumped to more than 1,200 the next year and during the past twelve months a record 1,540 licenses were issued.

The office was busy during the Christmas holiday season, with twelve marriage licenses written Christmas Eve and fifteen last Saturday.

Mrs. Wren reported an Evansville couple were accompanied by a minister friend Monday morning and immediately after getting the license the party stepped across the hall to the court room where the marriage ceremony was performed.

goals which were scheduled to be done in the past year.

Can we look back quickly and find a partially finished task which we can finish before the day is done? Possibly we can clear the way for beginning anew tomorrow by repenting of our sins tonight. There is not much time for other corrections. Maybe we can wipe some hatred from our minds so that kindness will find room in our lives.

The slate of the new year is clean, but the pages of yesterday are still covered with useless doodling and senseless scribbling. Much of our thinking and acting in the year gone by was more sinful than it was redemptive. We must make amends tonight. Tomorrow begins a new year.
